Notes

Make

- "V. BERNADELLI - GARDONE - V.T. ITALIA". or - "V. BERNADELLI - GARDONE - V.T." and "MADE IN ITALY" is marked on the left side of the slide.

Model

- not marked "Vest Pocket" anywhere on the firearm.
- manufactured from 1945 to 1948.
- "Vest Pocket (sometimes condensed to "VP") is a popular designation by which handguns of this size and type are known.
- this is a small semi-automatic pistol with an exposed barrel, similar to the Walther "Model 9".
- the barrel on this unit is integral with the frame and the slide is held onto the frame by a dumbell shaped keypiece at the rear of the firearm. Depression of the spring-catch initiates the removal of the slide.

Manufacturer

- "V. BERNADELLI - GARDONE - V.T. ITALIA". or - "V. BERNADELLI - GARDONE - V.T." and "MADE IN ITALY" is marked on the left side of the slide.

Action

Notes

Make

- the full make is not marked on the firearm, but the grips are marked with an intertwined "BM" monogram; Thomas Martin designed this company's pistols, while Etienne Bernardon was the manufacturer. Together, they formed the "Societe Francaise d'Armes Automatique de St. Etienne", which produced pistols between 1907 and 1912.

Model

- the model is marked on the firearm.
- this is a Browning 1910-sized pistol manufactured prior to World War One in St. Etienne, France based on Thomas Martin's 1905 patent for an open-top pistol. Bernardon-Martin produced at least three distinct pistols (all marked as "Automatique Francais"), which can be broken down into a 25/6.35mm "vest pocket"-sized version, a 32/7.65mm 1907 version, and a 32/7.65mm 1909 version.
- the "Hermetic" was identical to the 1909 pattern pistol, and sold after the manufacturer went bankrupt.
- the 1909 pistol is essentially identical to the 1907 pistol, but with the addition of a slide latch at the front of the trigger guard; this feature was also carried over onto Bernardon-Martin's "vest-pocket"-sized 25/6.35mm pistol..
- features include: blued finish; open-topped slide; a screw through the arms of the slide below the barrel, securing the slide to the upper receiver; open fixed blade and groove sights; a slide hold-open lever at the front of the trigger guard; single-action trigger mechanism that trips a striker, instead of an internal hammer; stepped gripping surfaces on the rear of the sides of the slide; synthetic grip-plates with a "BM" monogram; a rotating manual safety at the rear of the pistol, above the thumb; and a knurled magazine-release button on the left side of the butt of the pistol.

Manufacturer

- the manufacturer is marked on the firearm.

Action

- blowback operated.

Serial Number

- numbered on the receiver/frame.

Notes

Make

- "BESA Mk III" is marked on the left side of the receiver/frame.

Model

- "BESA Mk III" is marked on the left side of the receiver/frame.
- introduced in 1943, the Mark III is a simplified version of the Mark II. The most noticeable change being the removal of the rate selector, leaving only the high rate of fire available.
- most Mark III models were later converted to Mark III* models and in 1952 they were again converted to Model Mark 3/2 and Mark 3/3 and are marked so.
- the Besa is basically a modified copy of the Czech ZB53 or VZ37 that was simplified for mass production.
- uses telescopic sights, for use on tanks and armoured vehicles, no mechanical sights were fitted to this firearm in its original manufactured form.
- overall length of 1105mm and average weight of 24.5 kgs.

Action

- no longer capable of full automatic fire.

Calibre

- marked on the left side of the receiver/frame as: 7.9".

Shots

- belt fed, originally using 225 round canvas or metal link belts.

Notes

Make

- "BESA Mk III" is marked on the left side of the receiver/frame.

Model

- marked on the left side of the receiver/frame as: BESA MK III.
- introduced in 1943, the Mark III is a simplified version of the Mark II. The most noticeable change being the removal of the rate selector, leaving only the high rate of fire available.
- most Mark III models were later converted to Mark III* models and in 1952 they were again converted to Model Mark 3/2 and Mark 3/3 and are marked so.
- the Besa is basically a modified copy of the Czech ZB53 or VZ37 that was simplified for mass production.
- uses telescopic sights, for use on tanks and armoured vehicles, no mechanical sights were fitted to this firearm in its original manufactured form.
- overall length of 1105mm and average weight of 24.5 kgs.

Action

- gas operated.

Calibre

- marked on the left side of the receiver/frame as: 7.9".

Shots

- belt fed, originally using 225 round canvas or metal link belts.

Notes

Make

- "W. BILLINGHURST, ROCHESTER, NEW YORK" is usually marked on the barrel.

Model

- manufactured prior to 1881.
- this is an unusual percussion combination gun built by William B. Billinghurst and based on patents issued to James and John Miller of Rochester, New York.
- as originally manufactured, this firearm used the "pill-lock" system of ignition, whereby a small compressed pellet or "pill" of priming material was stuck to a nipple with a small piece of bee's-wax; however, many of these firearms were later converted to the then-new percussion "cap" style of ignition for ease of use.
- dual triggers (the rear trigger normally fires the upper/rifle barrel, while the forward trigger normally fires the lower/shotgun barrel), straight-grip walnut stock with no forearm, a long (4") manually-revolved cylinder that revolves on the central shotgun barrel, a part-round/part-octagonal rifle barrel, and blued or browned finish.
- even though the rifle portion of this firearm has a revolving cylinder, it was still designed to be loaded from the muzzle; examined specimens show rifling in both the cylinder mouths and the rifle barrel.

Notes

Make

- "C. BIRD & CO" over "PHILAD" is marked on the firearm.

Model

- manufactured prior to 1815.
- model designation is not marked on the firearm.
- this is a muzzle-loading flintlock single-shot pistol produced either by C. Bird & Co., or using parts supplied by them. Because these pistols were commonly built by other manufacturers using Bird-supplied parts, they have no set features.
- common features include: browned barrel; bird's-head stock; under-barrel ramrod; cock, frizzen, and flash-pan mounted on right side; brass fittings.
- examples of this firearm may also be seen converted to percussion ignition.

Manufacturer

- "C. BIRD & CO" over "PHILAD" is marked on the firearm.
- Charles Bird & Company was located in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, U.S.A. from 1790 to 1814.
- Charles Bird & Company manufactured guns and/or gun parts; as a result, many smaller manufacturers ended up using Bird-supplied locks in the production of their own firearms.
- where another name is marked on a firearm with a Bird lockplate, the presumption is that Bird only produced the lock.

Action

- muzzle-loading.

Barrel

- other barrel lengths probable; 10"/254mm is only an example of a "typical" length.

Firearms Reference Table, National Specialized Services, Royal Canadian Mounted Police. All rights reserved, RCMP, 1998-2026.

Calibre - other calibres probable; 54 calibre is only an example of a "typical" calibre.

Notes

Make

- "Bissell" is marked on the lock.

Model

- model designation is not marked on the firearm.
- manufactured circa 1750.
- traditional Scottish military flintlock pistol.
- features include: all steel construction; round, stepped barrel slightly flared at the muzzle; ram's horn butt with a threaded, centre knob for the touch hole pick; button head, turned ram rod; goose neck cock; lobed trigger tip; belt hook attachment on the left side.
- overall length is 330mm (13").
- a very similar pistol, the "Black Watch Pistol" is known under several similar names, and must not be confused with the "Murdoch" pistol; where the "Murdoch" pistol has a "ram's-head" butt, with curlicue extensions that help to protect a ball-headed vent-pick threaded into the butt, the "Black Watch Pistol" is made with an all-brass butt and stock, with a double-lobed "kidney-shaped" butt that allows the pistol to be used as a club after the shot is fired.

Manufacturer

- Isaac Bissell was a manufacturer located in Birmingham England, circa 1750 and may be associated with the Bissell of Leith, Edinburgh, Scotland.

Action

- muzzle loading.

Other Markings

- the barrel of an example was marked "H.R.H" and with the Roman Numerals "VIII".

Firearms Reference Table, National Specialized Services, Royal Canadian Mounted Police. All rights reserved, RCMP, 1998-2026.

Model	- "CAL: 12 GA MODEL: PRO SERIES 5" was observed marked on the side of the receiver/frame. - Pro Series 5 resembles a Mossberg 500 pump action shotgun but has a detachable box/drum magazine versus a tubular magazine. - Black Aces Tactical also sells a Pro Series 5 retro kit which transforms a standard Mossberg model 500 or 590 shotgun into a pump action, magazine-fed tactical shotgun. Pro Series 5 kit includes a receiver/frame and all the parts, tools and instructions to replace the original receiver/frame and internal components. - Pro Series 5 is available in numerous configurations. - features include: single bead, dual beads, fibre optic, adjustable rifle type sights or removable folding sights; round barrel with or without removable choke; barrel may be threaded at the muzzle for a door breeching attachment; barrel may be ported or have a ventilated rib; full length Picatinny ventilated heat shield with integral Picatinny type rails; solid top Pro Series 5 receiver/frame is drilled and tapped for rail or sight mounts, right side ejection and a top mounted sliding safety; magazine release lever is mounted behind the magazine well; checkered synthetic or wood forearm and fixed traditional pistol grip buttstock with a recoil pad or a synthetic ribbed forearm and pistol grip only or synthetic ribbed forearm and a fixed tradition pistol grip buttstock or a synthetic forearm and pistol grip with a left side folding, telescoping adjustable buttstock; black, green or gold finish. - overall length with a 470 mm (18.5") barrel and the side folding stock in the stowed position is 965 mm (38"), and the side folding stock in the open position is 1054 mm (41.5").
Manufacturer	- "CRABIL MFG" over "ST. PETERSBURG, FL" over "USA" was observed marked on the underside of the receiver/frame. - Crabil Manufacturing, Incorporated is located in Saint Petersburg, Florida, U.S.A. - Crabil Manufacturing, Incorporated was established in 2001.
Serial Number	- serial number was observed marked on the right side of the receiver/frame. - serial number observed consisted of a "PS5" prefix and five numbers.
Shots	- detachable Saiga-12 type box or drum magazine.
Canadian Law Comments	- MAGAZINE: Any detachable cartridge magazine manufactured for the Saiga semi-automatic shotgun type platform which exceeds five (5) shots capacity is a prohibited device, regardless of which manufacturer made it. Because a semi-automatic firearm other than a semi-automatic handgun is limited to a five (5) shot magazine capacity in accordance with the CC PART III, S. 84, Regulations PART 4 Para 3. (1) (a) (ii) "The Former Cartridge Magazine Control Regulations", this limits the magazine capacity for the shotgun configuration to five (5) shots. The five (5) shot limit applies even if the Saiga magazine is used in a pump action shotgun. - RECEIVER/FRAME: Black Aces Tactical sells a retro receiver kit which transforms a standard shotgun into a pump action, magazine-fed tactical shotgun. The kit includes a Pro Series receiver/frame and all the parts, tools and instructions to replace the receiver and internal components. The receiver/frame in the kit is a firearm in Canada and must be registered.

Model

- "FIELD'S PAT." over "No. 1927" over "1877" is marked on the left side of the receiver/frame.
- William Field's Patent No. 1927 of May 1877 is for a single shot action with either a Martini type rear hinged, lever operated tipping block design, or a Farquharson type lever operated vertical dropping/falling block design.
- Field's Patent No 1927 is characterized by a right side mounted operating lever on the receiver/frame which was moved forward to lower the breech block, cock the hammer and actuate the extractor at the end of the opening stroke; pulling back on the lever closed the action; most of these actions had an external hammer and an inertia striker in the breech block, although hammerless versions were also made.
- this is a single shot rifle which uses a falling block action.
- features include: falling block actions opening lever is located on the right side of the receiver/frame; indent-locked lever on the right side of the receiver/frame function is to lock the side lever with the breech when in the closed position; external hammer with half-cock notch; checkered hardwood stock, available in either pistol grip.

Manufacturer

- William Field, manager of the Field Rifle Co. of Birmingham from 1885 to 1898, was the inventor of an action, patented on May 17 1877, as No. 1927. It is believed that the company was supplying this patented action to other makers, as they do not appear to have made complete rifles. The manufacturers who utilized his action include many of the best know firms of that era, such as:

Notes

Make

- "Blaser" may be marked on the underside of the receiver/frame.

Model

- the model designation may be marked on the underside of the receiver/frame as "95".
- this is a "system" of receiver/frames and barrels designed by Blaser that allows a user to mount combination gun barrels onto one receiver/frame for use in a wide variety of hunting situations; the base firearm can be ordered in a wide variety of grades of finish and engraving.
- the model "95" combination gun features a single action lock that must be manually re-cocked after each barrel is fired.
- features include: checkered walnut pistol-grip Bavarian-comb stock and forearm; coin-finished boxlock receiver/frame (some grades with false sideplates); blued barrels; top lever; tang safety/selector; double triggers; horn trigger guard; open fixed sights (quick detachable scope mounts available as an option); sling swivels.
- also available in a double rifle configuration.

Action

- over/under pattern.

Serial Number

- serial number is usually marked on the receiver/frame.

Notes

Make

- "BLASER" and/or the Blaser logo is marked on the firearm.

Model

- "BD14" is marked on the firearm; "BD14" stands for "Bockdrilling 14". A "bockdrilling" is a three-barrelled over/under firearm usually composed of a shotgun barrel over a large-calibre rifle barrel (or vice-versa) with a small-calibre rifle barrel placed on the rib between the two larger barrels.
- these combination guns may be seen in both box lock and false side lock (with extended side plates for additional engraving room) versions.
- features include: free-floating blued barrels in a bockdrilling layout; open sights on ramps, with optical sights on detachable mounts; checkered walnut forearm and pistol-grip stock with contrasting schnabel forearm and grip-cap; tang opening lever; tang cocking lever/barrel selector; double triggers (the front trigger fires the large-calibre rifle barrel, while the rear trigger fires either the shotgun barrel or the small-calibre rifle barrel, depending on the position of the selector); and a rubber butt pad.

Manufacturer

- "BLASER" and/or the Blaser logo is marked on the firearm.

Action

- over/under configuration, with a shotgun barrel over a large-calibre rifle barrel, with a small-calibre rifle barrel on the right side.

Serial Number

- serial-numbered on the receiver/frame.

Notes

Make

- the make (or logo thereof) is marked on the firearm.

Model

- this is a "drilling"-style combination gun that puts the single rifle barrel above two side by side shotgun barrels; this reverses the normal pattern found in these types of combination guns
- features include: double triggers; tang safety/selector; walnut pistol-grip stock and forearm with "hog's-back"-style comb; folding open sights or twist-off scope mounts.
- some variations of this firearm have the upper barrel and one of the lower barrels (normally a shot barrel) chambered for the same rifle calibre; these variations are known as "D99 Duo Doppelbuchsdrillings".
- also available in a three-rifle-barrel variation as the "D99 Trio Kugeldrilling", with up to three different rifle calibres in the same firearm.
- these firearms are made in several grades, with different wood quality, engraving amounts and styles that may include precious metal inlays.

Manufacturer

- the manufacturer (or logo thereof) is marked on the firearm.
- Blaser Jagdwaffen GmbH is a manufacturer based in Isny, Germany, that specialized in manufacturing an interchangeable-caliber rifle of its own design. It is currently owned by the Sigarms Group, and products are marketed through its J.P. Sauer & Sohn division.

Action

- hinged barrel design.
- barrel assembly consists of three barrels: one rifled barrel and two smoothbore barrels or two rifled barrels and one smoothbore barrel.

Serial Number

- serial number is located on the tang, water table, and/or barrel lug.

Calibre

- the "standard" version of this firearm may be seen with a single rifle barrel in 222 Rem, 5.6x50R Mag, 5.6x52R, 243 Win, 6.5x57R, 6.5x65R RWS, 270 Win, 7x57R, 7x65R, 308 Win, 30-06, 30R Blaser, 8x57JRS, or 9.3x74R over two shot barrels chambered for 20 GA X 2 3/4" or 20 GA x 3".
- the "double rifle" version of this firearm may be seen with two rifle barrels chambered for any of the above calibres and ONE of the lower barrels chambered for 20 GA x 2 3/4" or 20 GA x 3".
- the "triple rifle" version of this firearm may be seen with the upper barrel chambered in 7x57R, 7x65R, 308 Win, 30-06, 30R Blaser, 8x57JRS, or 9.3x74R, the lower left barrel chambered in any of the same, and the lower right barrel chambered in 222 Rem, 5.6x50R Mag, 5.6x52R, 243 Win, 6.5x57R, or 6.5x65R RWS.

Notes

Make

- "BLASER" is marked on the firearm.

Model

- "R8 Success Individual" is marked on the firearm; the stock style, leather grip inserts and ebony forearm tip denote this rifle as the "Success Individual".
- this is a deluxe version of the R8 straight-pull rifle made with a walnut thumbhole stock with brown leather gripping inlays and an ebony forearm Schnabel tip.
- features include: semi weight rifled, fluted barrel with open adjustable sights; walnut thumbhole stock with soft brown leather gripping inlays; straight-pull R8 bolt action; receiver/frame drilled and tapped for scope mounts; sling swivels; thumb-operated cocking-piece/safety; rubber recoil pad; blued-black/anodized finish.

Manufacturer

- "BLASER" is marked on the firearm.
- Blaser Jagdwaffen GmbH is a firearms producer located in Isny im Allgau, Germany, that manufactures an interchangeable-caliber rifle of its own design in addition to a wide variety of drillings and combination guns.
- Blaser products are distributed through Sig Arms Inc. (SIGARMS), located in Exeter, NH, USA.

Action

- straight-pull bolt design.

Serial Number

- the serial number is marked on the right side of the receiver/frame.
- observed serial number consisted of prefix "RR" followed by six numbers.
- the number marked on the left side of the barrel is not part of the firearm's serial number.

Shots

- removable internal box magazine/trigger mechanism assembly.

Notes

Model

- manufactured from 1988 to 1994.

Manufacturer

- Blaser Jagdwaffen GmbH is a manufacturer based in Isny, Germany, that specializes in manufacturing an interchangeable-caliber rifle of its own design.

Remarks

- This is a slightly re-designed version of the Camex-Blaser Ultimate Deluxe rifle (see 'Camex-Blaser'), that now uses complete interchangeable bolts (along with interchangeable magazine boxes and barrels) to switch from one caliber to another, as it was too easy to produce an unsafe combination when using the interchangeable bolt-head system. The rifle has also been re-designed cosmetically, to give a more "North American" styling, with a round-knob bolt handle, raised pistol-grip stock with recoil pad (European walnut), and sling swivels on forend and stock instead of barrel-band and stock. The rifle is also now manufactured without open sights, and uses a quick-detachable scope-mount system for sighting. The rifle also has a re-designed rotating safety, mounted at the right rear of the receiver, and has an internally-adjustable trigger, instead of the set trigger of the Ultimate Deluxe.

Notes

Make

- "BLASER Germany" or a variation thereof is usually marked on the barrel and/or receiver/frame.

Model

- introduced in 1994.
- "Mod. R 93" is marked on the barrel and/or receiver/frame.
- straight pull type of bolt action actuated by the rearward 'swivel-type' action of the bolt handle utilizing Blaser's patented "Radial Locking System".
- features may include: European walnut stock with checkered pistol grip and forearm or one-piece synthetic stock; blued top receiver/frame and barrel, silver lower receiver/frame, with varying grades of engraving available as an option; blade front sight on ramp and adjustable sight or scope; thumb safety with cocking indicator located at the rear of the bolt; sling swivels and a butt plate.
- firearm is characterized by its easily interchangeable barrel/calibre takedown-type system, whereby changing the barrel and the bolt head will accommodate a change in calibre.
- available in different model variations known as: Classic, Safari, Attaché, Offroad, Offroad Timber, Synthetic, Long Range Sporter, LX, Grand Luxe.
- overall length with a 559mm barrel is 1029mm (40.2"); average weight is 2.99kg (6.6lbs).

Manufacturer

- Blaser Jagdwaffen GmbH is a firearms producer located in Isny im Allgau, Germany, that manufactures an interchangeable-caliber rifle of its own design in addition to a wide variety of drillings and combination guns.
- Blaser products are distributed through Sig Arms Inc. (SIGARMS), located in Exeter, NH, USA.

Action

- straight-pull bolt action.

Serial Number

- serial number is marked on the left side of the barrel in Germany.
- serial number may be marked on the side of the receiver/frame in other countries.
- Barrel: observed examples that had the serial number marked on the left side of the barrel consisted of the number "9" followed by a slash "/" and a five digit number, example of markings: "Nr: 9/1###1".
- Receiver/Frame: observed examples that had the serial number marked on the right side of the receiver/frame consisting of one or two letter prefix followed by a five digit number. Observed prefixs consisted of the letters "J", "BC" and "BX", eg: "BC-0###8".

Calibre

- calibre designation is usually marked on the breech end of the barrel.

Firearms Reference Table, National Specialized Services, Royal Canadian Mounted Police. All rights reserved, RCMP, 1998-2026.

Shots

- internal magazine.
- internal magazine or fixed follower for single shot applications.

Model	- the model may or may not be marked on the firearm; may only be marked "Hamed", after the Abu Dhabi sheikh who commissioned the first example of this unusual rifle. - this is a side by side straight-pull bolt-action rifle based on the R93, but manufactured in a double-barrel version with side by side barrels, double triggers, and an internal dual-column magazine. - these are limited-production rifles, usually manufactured with higher grades of furniture, engraving, and precious metal inlays. - features include: side by side layout; blued finish (may include deluxe engraving and gold or silver inlays); open "express sights; checkered and carved forearm and pistol-grip stock; a coin-finished receiver; a straight-pull bolt-action mechanism that operates both bolts simultaneously; dual cocking thumbpieces; and double triggers. - these rifles may be swapped from one calibre to another by replacing the barrels and bolt-heads.
Manufacturer	- "BLASER" is marked on the firearm. - Blaser Jagdwaffen GmbH is a manufacturer based in Isny, Germany, that specializes in manufacturing an interchangeable-caliber rifle of its own design.
Action	- this rifle is a combination side by side and straight-pull bolt-action, where each fore and aft motion of the bolt loads two chambers.
Serial Number	- serial-numbered on the receiver/frame.
Barrel	- other barrel lengths available on order.
Calibre	- other calibres available on order.
Shots	- internal dual rotary magazine, with two feed columns, each feeding one barrel.

Notes

Model

- introduced in 1994.

Manufacturer

- Blaser Jagdwaffen GmbH is a manufacturer based in Isny, Germany, that specializes in manufacturing an interchangeable-caliber rifle of its own design.

Action

- straight-pull action.

Serial Number

- serial number is marked on the left side of the barrel in Germany.
- serial number may be marked on the side of the receiver/frame in other countries.
- Barrel: observed examples that had the serial number marked on the left side of the barrel consisted of the number "9" followed by a slash "/" and a five digit number, example of markings: "Nr: 9/1###1".
- Receiver/Frame: observed examples that had the serial number marked on the right side of the receiver/frame consisting of one or two letter prefix followed by a five digit number. Observed prefixs consisted of the letters "J", "BC" and "BX", eg: "BC-0###8".

Calibre

- other calibres available, but not specified.

Remarks

- This is a slightly re-designed version of the Camex-Blaser Ultimate Deluxe rifle (see 'Camex-Blaser'), that uses interchangeable bolt-heads (along with interchangeable magazine boxes and barrels) to switch from one caliber to another. The rifle has also been re-designed cosmetically, to give a more "North American" styling, with a round-knob bolt handle, raised pistol-grip stock with recoil pad (European walnut), and sling swivels on the stock and the tip of the forend instead of barrel-band and stock. The rifle is also now manufactured without open sights, and uses a quick-detachable scope-mount system for sighting. The rifle also has a combination cocking-piece/safety at the rear of the receiver, that is pushed forward to cock the rifle and make it ready to fire, and pulled back to place it on "safe". The standard R93 has walnut panels matching the stock inset into the sides of the aluminium receiver. These rifles are also available from the factory with "Kick-Stop" EDM-machined compensating slots cut into the barrel.

Notes

Make

- "Blaser" is marked on the left side of the receiver/frame.

Model

- marked on the left side of the receiver/frame: "Blaser Germany Mod. R93".
- straight-pull action; steel "collet style" locking lugs on the bolt head expands/contracts radially into the rear barrel recess.
- non-stressed "U" shaped aluminum receiver/frame (with four mill-cuts on top, to permit scope mounting) which directly beds the hammer-forged steel barrel; and retains the bolt assembly and trigger assembly in position.
- a version of the R93 straight-pull rifle with a black moulded synthetic non-slip finished, one piece fibre-glass reinforced stock, with a schnabel tip forend and rubber recoil butt-pad; matte black metal finish, free floating barrel, open fixed sights.
- these rifles have interchangeable barrels and bolt-heads to permit use of different calibres in the same rifle.
- options include: caliber change packages of barrel, magazine and bolt-head; vented "Kick-Stop" feature on the barrels, and a left-handed action.

Action

- straight-pull action.

Serial Number

- serial number is marked on the left side of the barrel in Germany.
- serial number may be marked on the side of the receiver/frame in other countries.
- Barrel: observed examples that had the serial number marked on the left side of the barrel consisted of the number "9" followed by a slash "/" and a five digit number, example of markings: "Nr: 9/1###1".
- Receiver/Frame: observed examples that had the serial number marked on the right side of the receiver/frame consisting of one or two letter prefix followed by a five digit number. Observed prefixs consisted of the letters "J", "BC" and "BX", eg: "BC-0###8".

Calibre

- marked on the left side of the receiver/frame, example: "CAL. 30-06"

Shots

- detachable moulded plastic, semi-spiral/rotary, single-column magazine.

Other Markings

- marked on the left side receiver/frame is "Germany".

Remarks

- NOTE: when the bolt is closed on the first round, it is NOT COCKED: to cock it, depress the large ribbed metal button on the bolt rear forward and upward, until a large red dot is exposed on the tang; this motion arms the striker mechanism, and remains in this position for subsequent shots.
- to put the firearm onto SAFE, the button is pressed forward and upward again, and the button is released to return to the rearward postion, dis-arming the striker mechanism, and covering the red dot.

Notes

Model

- manufactured from 1985 to 1989.

Manufacturer

- Blaser Jagdwaffen GmbH is a manufacturer based in Isny, Germany, that specializes in manufacturing an interchangeable-caliber rifle of its own design.

Remarks

- This was a version of the Blaser rifle (see 'Blaser") manufactured prior to 1989; this rifle had a number of unique features, including the ability to interchange barrels, bolt-heads, and magazines to switch from one caliber to another. The rifle is a bolt-action, and the majority of the receiver is manufactured from anodized aluminium to save weight. This version of the Blaser has an exposed "hammer" to cock the rifle (cocked by pushing it forward, rather than pulling it back). The "hammer" also functions as the rifle's safety. The rifle also came standard with a set trigger. The rifle has a European walnut shotgun-style pistol-grip stock that is placed much further below the barrel axis than most North American designs. The receiver has been engraved with hunting scenes, and finished in a gray-nickel color. This rifle was manufactured in both left and right handed versions, and was available with iron sights and a quick-detachable scope-mount system.

Manufacturer	- Blaser Jagdwaffen GmbH is a manufacturer based in Isny, Germany, that specializes in manufacturing an interchangeable-caliber rifle of its own design.
Action	- straight-pull bolt action.

Firearms Reference Table, National Specialized Services, Royal Canadian Mounted Police. All rights reserved, RCMP, 1998-2026.

Calibre - other calibers available, but not specified.

Shots - internal box magazine.

Remarks - This was a version of the Blaser rifle (see 'Blaser") manufactured prior to 1989; this rifle had a number of unique features, including the ability to interchange barrels, bolt-heads, and magazines to switch from one caliber to another. The rifle is a bolt-action, and the majority of the receiver is manufactured from anodized aluminium to save weight. This version of the Blaser has an exposed "hammer" to cock the rifle (cocked by pushing it forward, rather than pulling it back), and a German-style "butter-knife" bolt handle. The "hammer" also functions as the rifle's safety. The rifle also came standard with a set trigger. The rifle has a European walnut shotgun-style pistol-grip stock that is placed much further below the barrel axis than most North American designs. The receiver has been engraved with hunting scenes, and finished in a gray-nickel color. This rifle was manufactured in both left and right handed versions, and was available with iron sights and a quick-detachable scope-mount system. This rifle was also offered in Ultimate Super Deluxe, Ultimate Exclusive, Ultimate Super-Exclusive, and Ultimate Royal grades, with the differences between them depending on the quality of wood and the type and amount of engraving and gold or silver filling or plating used.

Notes

Make

- "G.A. BLITTOWSKI" is usually marked on the firearm.
- Gustave Adolphus Blittkowski was a New York, New York-based inventor and designer during the mid-1800s, who took out a number of small arms patents.

Model

- the model is not marked on the firearm; this is a descriptor of the firearm type.
- this is an unusual single-action revolver designed by Gustave Adolph Blittkowski in the mid-1800s (during the move from percussion revolvers to metallic-cased revolvers), using principles similar to those seen in the Dreyse 1841 "Needle Gun" rifle, where a firing-pin must pass through a powder charge in a papier-mache case to strike a percussion cap in the base of the lead bullet.
- this revolver combines aspects of many other single-action revolvers of the time, with a long firing-pin in a sliding housing at the rear of the frame, in-line with the top chamber and barrel; cartridges were loaded one at a time from the front of the cylinder, using a Colt-style under-barrel loading lever.
- features include: blued finish; octagonal barrel; fixed open sights; under-barrel loading lever; solid frame; a non-fluted cylinder; spur trigger; a long firing-pin housing with the firing-pin struck by a side-mounted hammer; and wooden bird's-head grips.

Manufacturer

- "G.A. BLITTOWSKI" is usually marked on the firearm.
- Gustave Adolphus Blittkowski was a New York, New York-based inventor and designer during the mid-1800s, who took out a number of small arms patents.

Action

- single-action "needlefire" percussion revolver.

Calibre

- this revolver fired a papier mâché Dreyse "needle-fire"-style cartridge, where the firing-pin had to pass through the powder charge to strike a percussion cap on the base of the bullet.

Notes

Make

- the make is not marked on the firearm; this is the colloquial name by which these submachineguns are known. Some known examples are marked with three lightning bolts on the cast folding buttplate.

Model

- the model is not marked on the firearm; "Blyskawica" (Polish for "Lightning") is the colloquial name by which these submachineguns are known, and some extant examples are known to have folding buttplates marked with three lightning bolts.
- this is an indigenous Polish submachinegun heavily influenced by the Sten Mark 2 design, but laid out along the lines of the German "MP 3008" Sten copy, with a vertical magazine housing; approximately 900 of these submachineguns are known to have been made in occupied Poland during the final years of World War Two. These submachineguns were notably used during the Warsaw Rising, a revolt by the Polish resistance coinciding with the approach of Soviet troops intended to drive the occupying German forces out of the city, but which was put down after months of heavy close-quarters fighting.
- this is a "cottage industry" submachinegun produced by Polish Resistance fighters during World War Two, using design elements from the Sten Mark II and the German "MP 3008"; these design elements were adapted for local manufacture by using a minimum of machining and tooling, and have a vertical magazine housing, a wooden pistol-grip attached to a lengthened trigger housing, and a folding stock with cast buttplate.
- features include: generic Sten layout and operation; tubular receiver/frame; fixed open sights or no sights; knurled and ventilated barrel shroud; vertical magazine housing; right-side ejection; flat, extended one-piece trigger housing with a safety forward of the trigger, inside the trigger-guard; a solid wooden grip screwed to the rear of the trigger housing; bolt raceway on the right side; and a folding strut buttstock with a cast aluminium alloy buttplate, usually bearing three lightning bolts.

Action

- blowback operated.

Model

- the model is marked on the firearm as "m/40".
- this is a light cannon adopted by the Swedes in 1940 as an all-purpose anti-tank/anti-aircraft weapon, but which never saw use outside of Sweden.
- this cannon operates on the principle of long recoil, and resembles a greatly-enlarged M2 Browning machine gun on a tripod ground mount. This cannon was nicknamed the "grasshopper" in Swedish service, because of the way the cannon jumped with each shot.
- features include: blued finish; ventilated barrel shroud with a second shroud at the front of the receiver; square receiver with an unusual form of "drum"-style magazine which holds the base of the cartridges, but leaves the forward halves of the cartridges exposed; a short tripod with ski legs that can be dragged through the snow by the gun crew; and dual spade grips.

Manufacturer

- the manufacturer or logo thereof is marked on the firearm.

Action

- recoil operated.

Serial Number

- numbered on the receiver/frame.

Canadian Law Comments

- this firearm is normally Non-Restricted unless affected by the following conditions:

1) by combining a barrel from a licensed firearms manufacture that is less than 406mm (16.0") in length and a receiver/frame fitted with a pistol grip only, this firearm may be deemed a "handgun" and therefore "RESTRICTED" under the definition of "restricted firearm" in Part III/Firearms and Other Weapons of Section 84 (1) (a) of the Criminal Code of Canada.
- "handgun" means a firearm that is designed, altered or intended to be aimed and fired by the action of one hand, whether or not it has been redesigned or subsequently altered to be aimed and fired by the action of both hands.

2) "a firearm that is designed or adapted to be fired when reduced to a length of less than 660 mm by folding, telescoping or otherwise" and therefore "Restricted" under the definition of "restricted firearm" in Part III/Firearms and Other Weapons of Section 84 (1) (c) of the Criminal Code of Canada.

3) by combining a barrel that has been altered to less than 457mm (18.0") in length by a non-licensed firearms manufacturer (cottage industry, individual or gunsmith) regardless of whether the shotgun has a pistol grip or conventional stock, this firearm is "PROHIBITED" and subject to the definition of a "prohibited firearm" in Part III/Firearms and Other Weapons of Section 84 of the Criminal Code of Canada.
- "prohibited firearm" means a firearm that is adapted from a rifle or shotgun, whether by sawing, cutting or any other alteration, and that, as so adapted,
(i) is less than 660 mm in length, or
(ii) is 660mm or greater in length and has a barrel less than 457 mm in length.

Notes

Make

- "J.G. BOLEN" is usually marked on the top-mounted hammer.
- John G. Bolen was a New York, New York-based retailer of goods and hardware during the mid-1800s, who also retailed Allen & Thurber pepperbox pistols under his own name.

Firearms Reference Table, National Specialized Services, Royal Canadian Mounted Police. All rights reserved, RCMP, 1998-2026.

Model	- "PATENTED 1837" is usually marked on the barrels. - this is any one of several pepperbox-type pistols built by Allen & Thurber based on Ethan Allen's 1837 patent for a double-action trigger mechanism. Allen & Thurber subsequently began producing 1845 Pepperboxes, with a simplified trigger mechanism, and there is no easy way (short of taking the pistol apart) to tell these variations from one another. The presence of an "1837" date, however, is not definitive proof that the example is an 1837 Pepperbox. Allen & Thurber continued using frames stamped "1837" after they started producing the 1845 Pepperbox. 1845 Pepperbox pistols will have a mainspring-tightening screw located high or midway in the frontstrap, while 1837 Pepperboxes are seen with either NO mainspring-tightening screws (mainspring mounted on an internal clip), or with a mainspring-tightening screw mounted at a low position in the frontstrap. - these pepperboxes were built in a wide variety of styles, and can be seen with exposed or internal hammers, ring or curved triggers, and exposed or shielded nipples. Likewise, the markings on these pistols can vary drastically in size, content, and location. Most often, these are marked "Allen's Patent" and "Allen & Thurber" on the hammer and/or in the barrel flutes, along with either "Grafton, Mass." or "Norwich, CT". Worcester, Massachusetts-marked pepperboxes were all of the 1845 type. - walnut grips (most often with a silver oval inlay) on a bag-shaped frame, plain or engraved frame, ring or conventional trigger, and either exposed nipples or a circular nipple shield that exposes only the nipple under the hammer.
Manufacturer	- the manufacturer may or may not be marked on the firearm.
Action	- "pepperbox" type, with six barrels joined in a rotating cluster.
Serial Number	- these pistols may bear numbers, but these are believed to be "batch" numbers; ie. like-numbered pistols were all sent to one distributor.

Notes

Make

- "BONNER" was observed marked on the left side of the receiver/frame.
- "KNUTSFORD" was observed marked on the right side of the receiver/frame.
- "KNUTSFORD" is a town in Cheshire, England.
- research has only revealed one gunsmith with the name of Bonner.
- George Bonner was located at Rose Lane, London, England circa 1640.

Model

- Screw Barrel Pistols were popular in the period prior to 1880 and were commonly manufactured in Belgium and England.
- model designation is not marked on the firearm.
- model designation is derived from the method by which this pistol is loaded; loading was accomplished by unscrewing the barrel.
- this is a single shot pistol with a removable barrel and an exposed hammer centrally located on the receiver/frame behind the chamber.
- this handgun is intended to be loaded from the breech end of the barrel and as such was originally suppied with a wrench to unscrew the barrel from the receiver/frame in order that a lead ball and loose powder could be inserted into the chamber end of the barrel and then the barrel screwed back onto the receiver/frame.
- features include: round screw on barrel; box lock action with the hammer centrally located on the top of the receiver/frame; flintlock or percussion ignition; folding trigger; metal butt cap with a trap door for the storage of the "barrel wrench" or "key" within the grip stock; may have a sliding-type safety device on the top of the rear tang which engages a notch in the rear of the hammer; may have engraving.

Action

- the barrel unscrews in front of the chamber, so it can be loaded with a ball that fits the barrel more tightly than is possible with a muzzle loader.
- the turnoff barrel may be rifled.

Serial Number

- known example did not have a serial number.
