Notes

Make

- make is not marked on the firearm.

Model

- this is a submachine gun based on the Sten Mark II, with a number of unusual adaptations designed by Antoni Rosciszewski, a designer at Long Branch during the Second World War.
- this submachine gun has a "dual" or "nested" trigger arrangement, where a top trigger produces full automatic fire and a bottom trigger produces semi automatic fire (this same arrangement was later used on Rosciszewski's XP 54 submachine guns), as well as an unusual drum magazine.
- the magazine in this design is driven by a bolt operated cam mechanism that advances an internal "belt" as the bolt cycles.
- obvious Sten Mk II heritage, but with no trigger guard. This submachine gun has also been modified to eject empty casings out of the left side of the receiver/frame.

Manufacturer

- manufacturer's designation is not marked on the firearm.

Action

- blow back operation, selective fire.

Serial Number

- observed samples have not been marked with a serial number.

- this is an AR style shotgun.
- this is a magazine feed, pump action shotgun which uses a two-piece receiver/frame in a manner similar to an AR-15/M-16.
- the two components which make the receiver/frame actually slide apart horizontally rather than being attached by a front pin. A through-bolt attaches the trigger mechanism housing to the "upper receiver". Removing the through-bolt permits the splitting (disassembly) of the two components.
- features include: fixed front sight and adjustable rear sight; round, free floating smooth bore barrel; alloy ventilated forearm and upper receiver with top accessory rail; synthetic slide; right side ejection; alloy receiver/frame with skeletonized magazine housing; right side bolt release lever and extended magazine release button; ambidextrous selector lever; synthetic telescopic buttstock and pistol grip; black finish.
- this firearm is compatible with a wide array of aftermarket parts and accessories and may have features not listed above.
- overall length with a 375mm (14.75") barrel is 820mm (32.25") with the stock collapsed.

Manufacturer

- "Konya-Turkey" may be marked on the receiver/frame.
- "Manufactured by Husan Arms" may be marked on the receiver/frame.
- "Husan Arms" or "HUSANARMS" may also be marked on the firearm.
- "HUSAN" is located in Konya, Turkey established in 1988.

Serial Number

- the serial number is marked on the underside of the trigger guard and is repeated on the right forward side of the upper receiver.
- observed serial number consisted of a two letter prefix (PA) followed by two numbers for the year of manufacture and four numbers.

Calibre

- the calibre designation is marked on the barrel.

Shots

- detachable box magazine.

Notes

Make

- PRIVATIVA S. Carcano may be marked on the receiver/frame.
- Salvatore Carcano patented this breech design based on the Dreyse and Doersch-Baumgarten needle-gun system and this design was used in the conversion of various muzzle loading military rifles and carbines.

Model

- Model designation is not marked on the firearm.
- This is a circa 1867 conversion of the 1856/1860 model of muzzle loading rifle to a breech loading, cartridge firing firearm that was later replaced by the Vetterli Model 1870; as with its Dreyse "needle gun" contemporary, this rifle used a paper cartridge with a primer at the base of the bullet, inside a cartridge forward of the powder charge, so the firing-pin has to pierce completely through the powder charge in order to fire the chambered cartridge.
- These firearms were made in rifle, carbine, gendarmerie musketoon, and musketoon lengths, each with slightly-different characteristics.
- Features include: single piece, straight stock; "bulbous" bolt knob locked forward of the retained percussion nipple bolster; post front and leaf-type rear sight; two barrel bands and forend cap; ram rod (retained on early conversions and later discarded); and a manually-cocked striker at the rear of the bolt, with a sliding cocking piece that is pushed forward before firing.
- Overall length with a 795 mm (31.3 inches) barrel is 1268 mm (49.9 inches), average weight is 4.5 kg (9.93 lbs).

Manufacturer

- Manufacturer and/or their logo is usually marked on the firearm.
- As these were factory conversions of earlier muzzle-loaded percussion rifles, the original markings may remain.

Action

- Turn bolt operated.

Serial Number

- Serial number may be marked on the right side of the receiver/frame on the percussion bolster.

Remarks

- Original pre-conversion markings may be present.

Notes

Make

- PRIVVATIVA S. Carcano may be marked on the receiver/frame.
- Salvatore Carcano patented this breech design based on the Dreyse and Doersch-Baumgarten needle-gun system and this design was used in the conversion of various muzzle loading military rifles and carbines.

Model

- Model designation is not marked on the firearm.
- This is a circa 1867 conversion of the 1856/1860 model of muzzle loading rifle to a breech loading, cartridge firing firearm that was later replaced by the Vetterli Model 1870; as with its Dreyse "needle gun" contemporary, this rifle used a paper cartridge with a primer at the base of the bullet, inside a cartridge forward of the powder charge, so the firing-pin has to pierce completely through the powder charge in order to fire the chambered cartridge.
- These firearms were made in rifle, carbine, gendarmerie musketoon, and musketoon lengths, each with slightly-different characteristics.
- Features include: single piece, straight stock; "bulbous" bolt knob locked forward of the retained percussion nipple bolster; post front and leaf-type rear sight; two barrel bands and forend cap; ram rod (retained on early conversions and later discarded); and a manually-cocked striker at the rear of the bolt, with a sliding cocking piece that is pushed forward before firing.

Manufacturer

- Manufacturer and/or their logo is usually marked on the firearm.
- As these were factory conversions of earlier muzzle-loaded percussion rifles, the original markings may remain.

Action

- Turn bolt operated.

Serial Number

- Serial number may be marked on the right side of the receiver/frame on the percussion bolster.

Notes

Make

- "CASPIAN" may be marked on the left side of the slide.
- "CASPIAN ARMS LTD. HARDWICK, VT U.S.A." or "CAPSIAN ARMS LTD. WOLCOTT, VT. USA" is marked on the right side of the receiver/frame.

Model

- this is a generic entry for Caspian Arms manufactured 1911-A1 receivers/frames which are not identified to a specific model. Other FRT entries are available that may more accurately identify a Caspian firearm.
- available in carbon steel, stainless steel, titanium and aluminum construction.

Manufacturer

- "CASPIAN ARMS LTD. HARDWICK, VT U.S.A." or "CAPSIAN ARMS LTD. WOLCOTT, VT. USA" is marked on the right side of the receiver/frame.
- Caspian Arms Limited has been in business since 1983.
- Caspian Arms Limited moved to Wolcott, Virginia circa 2004.
- Caspian Arms Limited is a manufacturer of carbon steel, stainless steel, titanium or aluminum alloy 1911-A1 receivers.
- Caspian Arms Limited sells just slides, or just receivers, or a combination, as requested by the customer. In many cases, the customer may choose to complete the receiver with components from other industry manufacturers.

Action

- recoil operated.

Serial Number

- the numbers are consecutively applied, regardless of model, and therefore cannot be a determining factor when identifying the Model.
- CASPIAN ARMS LIMITED also offers the option of a custom serial number, hand stamped, up to 10 characters.

Shots

- detachable box magazine.

FRN	Calibre	Shots	Barrel (mm)	Legal Classification Legal Authority	Level	Barrel Type Code
4166 - 1	410 GA X 2 1/2"	2	711	Non-Restricted CC 2 "firearm"	Manufacturer Specifications and Commercial Customization

Notes

Make

- "CENTAURE" and/or "CENTAURE - LIEGE - BELGIUM" and/or "LE CENTAURE" may be marked on the firearm.
- "Centaure" and/or "Le Centaure" were trade names used by "Fabriques d'Armes Reunies" and "Fabriques d'Armes Unies".

Manufacturer

- "FABRIQUES D'ARMES UNIES DE LIEGE" may be marked on the barrel.
- "Fabriques d'Armes Unies de Liege" was originally known as "Fabriques d'Armes Reunies/Societe Anonyme Fabriques d'Armes Reunies".
- in 1909, "Fabriques d'Armes Reunies/Societe Anonyme Fabriques d'Armes Reunies" of Liege, Belgium was formed to manufacturer the "Dictator" pistol.
- in 1918, "Fabriques d'Armes Reunies/Societe Anonyme Fabriques d'Armes Reunies" was reorganised as "Fabriques d'Armes Unies de Liege".
- "Fabriques d'Armes Unies de Liege" has been in business since 1918.

Serial Number

- serial number is marked on the forward flats of the receiver/frame.

Remarks

- This is a light weight side lever, top break, side-by-side, hammer shotgun. It features checkered walnut stock, matted rib between barrels, an action hinge which permits the barrels to fold downwards to almost touch the buttstock for convenience of storage and ease of transport. Guns of this type were popular in Europe and South America and many manufacturers other than Centaure produced them.

- "CENTURY INTERNATIONAL ARMS LTD" was observed marked on the barrel of a CENTURION.

Model

- "Mod MDL GP1975" was observed marked on the left side of the receiver/frame of a sample firearm.
- this firearm is of the design commonly known as the AK-47 rifle.
- the Century International MDL GP 1975 is firearm based on the original Romanian GP 1975, AKM and remanufactured to be a semi-automatic firearm.
- MDL GP1975 uses a purpose built semi-auto receiver/frame made by D.C. Inc.
- MDL GP1975 receiver/frame will not allow the installation of the original automatic sear assembly. The automatic sear axis pin hole and the automatic sear trip lever rail groove are not machined into the newly manufactured receiver/frame. A non-removable blind pin is placed slightly higher and forward of the normal location of the automatic sear axis pin hole in an automatic version of the Romanian GP 1975, AKM (Kalashnikov) design. The blind pin is finished flush to the inside of both sides of the interior of the receiver/frame walls. This adaptation means that there are only two removable axis pins (trigger and hammer) instead of original three as found on the automatic version (trigger, hammer and automatic sear).
- bolt carrier has had the automatic sear trip lug removed.
- trigger is a single hook TAPCO AK G2 semi-automatic trigger group which replaces the original trigger assembly.
- magazine well on this D.C. Inc. receiver/frame is narrower than the Romanian GP 1975 receiver/frame and will not accept the wider double column AK magazine.
- magazine well can be easily modified to except the standard AK magazine and samples have been advertised as such.

Manufacturer

- "CENTURY INTERNATIONAL ARMS INC." and "D.C. INDUSTRIES, INC. Saint Paul. MN USA" was observed marked on the left side of the receiver/frame above the trigger axis pin on a sample firearm.
- Century International Arms Limited of Montreal, Quebec, Canada is re-manufacturing the MDL GP1975 from Romanian GP 1975 AKM type rifles parts.
- Century International Arms is using newly manufactured D.C. Inc. AKM stamped receiver/frame that have pre-drilled rivet holes for the Romanian fixed style stock.

Action

- gas operated.
- the MDL GP1975 is available in semi-automatic only.

Firearms Reference Table, National Specialized Services, Royal Canadian Mounted Police. All rights reserved, RCMP, 1998-2026.

Serial Number	- serial number was observed marked on the left side of the receiver/frame. - observed sample serial number consisted of a number, followed by two letters, a space, a letter followed by five digits, eg. "7SL C00000".
Calibre	- "7.62x39" is marked on the left side of the receiver/frame.
Shots	- detachable box magazine. - unique "Romanian" marked single stack 10 round magazine. - may also be found with the regular AK style double stack magazine.

Notes

Make

- "W. CHANCE, SON & CO." was observed on the top of the barrel.

Model

- model is not marked on the firearm; this is a descriptor of the firearm type.
- this is an early "transitional" revolver, based largely on the earlier percussion bar-hammer pepperbox pattern. It is fitted with a single barrel by shortening the barrel assembly, then mounting a barrel on the shortened axis pin.
- features include: fixed open sights; octagonal barrel; unfluted cylinder; double-action trigger mechanism with a top-mounted bar hammer; checkered wooden grips on a bag-shaped grip-frame; grip/frame observed was engraved with a floral-scroll pattern between the cylinder and the checkered grip.
- these pistols should not be confused with purpose-built revolvers having solid frames (the Large Frame and Small Frame Pocket Revolvers); though the mechanism is very similar, the Large and Small Frame revolvers have solid frames, with frame-mounted barrels.

Manufacturer

- "W. CHANCE, SON & CO." was observed on the top of the barrel.
- William Chance was a merchant in Birmingham from 1777 to 1780 and became Chance & Homer from 1780 to 1812 and then became William Chance & Sons from 1812 to 1821 selling guns marked "London".
- William Chance (the son of William) was located in London from 1829 to 1842 and became William Chance, Son & Co. from 1842 to 1856, then William Chance & Co. in 1858. Their main premises located in Birmingham with guns still marked "London".

Action

- this is a pepperbox pistol that was converted to a revolver by shortening the barrel assembly, then mounting a single barrel on the shortened axis pin.

Serial Number

- serial number is usually marked on the receiver/frame.

Other Markings

- Birmingham proof mark of a crown over crossed swords with the letters "B", "P" and "C" was observed on the cylinder.

- in 1873 the company was reorganized to include a third partner, and the name was changed to Schoverling, Daly and Gales. By importing only the finest firearms the Charles Daly brand name became synonymous with high quality.
- as the result of several ownership changes over the years the prime asset of the firm became the "Charles Daly" name.
- in 1919 Henry Modell bought the company and controlled it until he sold it to the Waltzer family, owners of Sloan's Sporting Goods of Ridgefield, Connecticut. The Waltzer's established "Charles Daly & Company" (still of New York City) as a division of Sloan's and continued to import shotguns from Italy, Japan and Spain.
- in 1976, Sloan's sold Charles Daly to Outdoor Sports Headquarters Inc. of Dayton, Ohio who expanded the line to include black powder muzzle loading firearms.
- in 1996, Outdoors Sports Headquarters Inc. was sold to Jerry's Sports Center, Inc. of Forest City, Pennsylvania, who in turn sold the Charles Daly trade mark to Kassner Brothers Imports (KBI) of Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.
- since acquiring the Charles Daly name KBI has expanded the line to include handguns, pump action shotguns, and both centre-fire and rimfire rifles.

Model

- this is a Belgian manufactured over and under hammerless top break shotgun. It features double triggers or single selective trigger, ejectors, checkered deluxe grade European walnut pistol grip stock and forend and some engraving. This is a more elaborate version of the 100 Commander, the difference is primarily in the quality of wood and degree of engraving.

Manufacturer

- these shotguns were made circa 1930 to 1940.

Action

- over and under barrel configuration.

Serial Number

- marked on the recevier/frame, either under the opening lever or on the forward flats.

Notes

Make	- the name "Charles Daly" is marked on the right side of the receiver/frame. - Charles Daly was one of two partners who formed the sporting goods business of Schoverling & Daly in 1863. The business, located in New York City imported and distributed high quality firearms in the United States. - in 1873 the company was reorganized to include a third partner, and the name was changed to Schoverling, Daly and Gales. By importing only the finest firearms the Charles Daly brand name became synonymous with high quality. - as the result of several ownership changes over the years the prime asset of the firm became the "Charles Daly" name. - in 1919 Henry Modell bought the company and controlled it until he sold it to the Waltzer family, owners of Sloan's Sporting Goods of Ridgefield, Connecticut. The Waltzer's established "Charles Daly & Company" (still of New York City) as a division of Sloan's and continued to import shotguns from Italy, Japan and Spain. - in 1976, Sloan's sold Charles Daly to Outdoor Sports Headquarters Inc. of Dayton, Ohio who expanded the line to include black powder muzzle loading firearms. - in 1996, Outdoors Sports Headquarters Inc. was sold to Jerry's Sports Center, Inc. of Forest City, Pennsylvania, who in turn sold the Charles Daly trade mark to Kassner Brothers Imports (KBI) of Harrisburg, Pennsylvania. - since acquiring the Charles Daly name KBI has expanded the line to include handguns, pump action shotguns, and both centre-fire and rimfire rifles.
Model	- "300 Field", "300", or "Field" may be marked on the firearm. - this is a specific variation of Charles Daly's "300" series pump-action shotgun, chambered for 3" shells (2 3/4" in 28 Gauge), and intended for hunters and waterfowlers. - features include: black or full camouflage finish; screw-in interchangeable chokes; bead sight; ventilated rib; synthetic forearm and pistol-grip stock; right-side ejection port; cross-bolt safety at the rear of the trigger-guard; and a ventilated rubber buttpad. - a version of this shotgun chambered for 3 1/2" shells is also available, as the "335 Master-Mag".
Manufacturer	- manufacturer's name is not usually marked on the firearm. - "Made In Turkey" is usually marked on the barrel.
Serial Number	- serial numbered on the receiver/frame.
Shots	- tubular magazine fed.

Make	- the name "Charles Daly" is marked on the right side of the receiver/frame. - Charles Daly was one of two partners who formed the sporting goods business of Schoverling & Daly in 1863. The business, located in New York City imported and distributed high quality firearms in the United States. - in 1873 the company was reorganized to include a third partner, and the name was changed to Schoverling, Daly and Gales. By importing only the finest firearms the Charles Daly brand name became synonymous with high quality. - as the result of several ownership changes over the years the prime asset of the firm became the "Charles Daly" name. - in 1919 Henry Modell bought the company and controlled it until he sold it to the Waltzer family, owners of Sloan's Sporting Goods of Ridgefield, Connecticut. The Waltzer's established "Charles Daly & Company" (still of New York City) as a division of Sloan's and continued to import shotguns from Italy, Japan and Spain. - in 1976, Sloan's sold Charles Daly to Outdoor Sports Headquarters Inc. of Dayton, Ohio who expanded the line to include black powder muzzle loading firearms. - in 1996, Outdoors Sports Headquarters Inc. was sold to Jerry's Sports Center, Inc. of Forest City, Pennsylvania, who in turn sold the Charles Daly trade mark to Kassner Brothers Imports (KBI) of Harrisburg, Pennsylvania. - since acquiring the Charles Daly name KBI has expanded the line to include handguns, pump action shotguns, and both centre-fire and rimfire rifles.
Model	- "600 Field", "600", or "Field" may be marked on the firearm. - this is a specific variation of Charles Daly's "600" series semi-automatic shotgun, chambered for 3" shells (2 3/4" in 28 Gauge), and intended for hunters and waterfowlers. - features include: black or full camouflage finish; screw-in interchangeable chokes; bead sight; ventilated rib; synthetic forearm and pistol-grip stock; right side ejection port and operating handle; cross-bolt safety at the rear of the trigger guard; and a ventilated rubber buttpad. - a version of this shotgun chambered for 3 1/2" shells is also available, as the "635 Master-Mag".
Manufacturer	- manufacturer's name is not usually marked on the firearm. - "Made In Turkey" is usually marked on the barrel.
Action	- gas operated.
Serial Number	- serial numbered on the receiver/frame.
Shots	- tubular magazine fed.

Notes

Make

- the name "Charles Daly" is marked on the right side of the receiver/frame.
- Charles Daly was one of two partners who formed the sporting goods business of Schoverling & Daly in 1863. The business, located in New York City imported and distributed high quality firearms in the United States.
- in 1873 the company was reorganized to include a third partner, and the name was changed to Schoverling, Daly and Gales. By importing only the finest firearms the Charles Daly brand name became synonymous with high quality.
- as the result of several ownership changes over the years the prime asset of the firm became the "Charles Daly" name.
- in 1919 Henry Modell bought the company and controlled it until he sold it to the Waltzer family, owners of Sloan's Sporting Goods of Ridgefield, Connecticut. The Waltzer's established "Charles Daly & Company" (still of New York City) as a division of Sloan's and continued to import shotguns from Italy, Japan and Spain.
- in 1976, Sloan's sold Charles Daly to Outdoor Sports Headquarters Inc. of Dayton, Ohio who expanded the line to include black powder muzzle loading firearms.
- in 1996, Outdoors Sports Headquarters Inc. was sold to Jerry's Sports Center, Inc. of Forest City, Pennsylvania, who in turn sold the Charles Daly trade mark to Kassner Brothers Imports (KBI) of Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.
- since acquiring the Charles Daly name KBI has expanded the line to include handguns, pump action shotguns, and both centre-fire and rimfire rifles.
