PART OF YOUR COMMUNITY

Every day, the RCMP in New Brunswick works hard, not only to solve crime, but to prevent it. From conducting checkpoints to curbing unsafe driving practices, leading investigations to help reduce the illegal drugs available on our streets, or simply reaching out to at-risk young people, we are committed to making a positive difference. While police have a vital role to play, our success rests heavily on strong partnerships within the communities we serve, with other law enforcement agencies and with our partners. Working together, we can achieve our collective goal in New Brunswick: to keep our beautiful province and its people safe and secure.

MESSAGE FROM THE MINISTER OF PUBLIC SAFETY AND SOLICITOR GENERAL

When it comes to measuring quality of life, safety is a very important part of the equation.

We are very fortunate to enjoy an enviable quality of life in New Brunswick, and the RCMP has played an important role in securing this. Mounties are an essential part in making New Brunswick a safe place to live, work and raise a family.

From rural communities to busy highways to crowded city centers, RCMP officers are the police of jurisdiction for more than 70 per cent of the population of New Brunswick. I am continuously impressed by the quality service that these officers provide across the province in a variety of settings, often under difficult circumstances.

I've also been impressed by their collaborative spirit. One of the keys to having a significant impact on reducing crime is combining skills and expertise. I've seen the results of joint operations between the RCMP, municipal and regional police forces and the Department of Justice and Public Safety. By combining our skills and resources, we've seized weapons, drugs and millions of dollars from criminals.

I look forward to building on this partnership and providing the best service possible to New Brunswickers.

Hon. Robert Gauvin

Minister of Public Safety and Solicitor General
Department of Justice and Public Safety

MESSAGE FROM THE COMMANDING OFFICER

On behalf of the New Brunswick RCMP, I am proud to present our 2024 Annual Report, which highlights the dedicated work of our employees and the many ways we serve and protect communities across the province.

As the provincial police force for New Brunswick, our mission is rooted in service, protection, and partnership. We know that public safety is best achieved when we work hand in hand with the people we serve, as well as with our community leaders, Indigenous partners, governments, and other safety organizations.

Since assuming the role of Commanding Officer in December 2024, I have had the privilege of visiting communities across New Brunswick and engaging directly with residents. These conversations are essential to understanding local priorities, hearing concerns, and improving how we deliver policing services. They are also a powerful reminder that our ability to serve is strengthened when we work together.

This past year brought important advancements in public safety. The rollout of body-worn cameras and a Digital Evidence Management System represents a significant step forward in transparency, accountability, and officer safety.

At the same time, we continued to deepen our relationships with Indigenous communities throughout the province. These partnerships are built on respect, collaboration, and a shared commitment to safer communities.

To meet growing demands, we have expanded our workforce with new positions. This has increased our frontline capacity and visibility in our communities, while also providing strong support for employee wellness. We have also increased the resources available to our Specialized Policing Services, strengthening our ability to respond to complex investigations and emerging challenges.

Looking ahead, we remain committed to enhancing our service to the public. We are preparing to open two new detachments with modern facilities designed to meet the changing needs of the communities we serve. As crime continues to evolve, so too must we – ensuring our resources, tools, and services continue to adapt so we can respond effectively and keep New Brunswickers safe.

Every day, I am inspired by the professionalism, courage, and dedication of our employees, who respond to calls for service, investigate complex cases, support victims, and provide the critical expertise behind the scenes that enables our frontline operations. Each member plays a vital role in keeping the people of this province safe. It is an honour to serve as their Commanding Officer and to work alongside them on behalf of the people of New Brunswick.

To all New Brunswickers, I thank you for your trust and support. Together, through collaboration and partnership, we will continue working together for safer communities.

FUNDRAISING INITIATIVES

In 2024, RCMP detachments across New Brunswick once again came together during the holiday season to host several "Stuff a Cruiser" fundraising events in support of local shelters and food banks. Through the generosity of community members and the dedication of our RCMP personnel, nearly $16,500 was raised and dozens of police cruisers were filled with food donations. These contributions were distributed to local shelters and food banks throughout the province, helping individuals and families who may have been struggling during the holiday season. We thank our members for their commitment to spreading holiday cheer and making a meaningful difference in the lives of those most in need.
