Notes

Make

- "L. Harrison" is marked on the left side of the receiver/frame.

Model

- manufactured prior to 1838.
- model designation is not marked on the firearm.
- model designation is derived from the method by which this pistol is loaded; loading was accomplished by unscrewing the barrel.
- this is a single shot pistol with a removable barrel and an exposed hammer centrally located on the receiver/frame behind the chamber.
- this handgun is intended to be loaded from the breech end of the barrel and as such was originally supplied with a wrench to unscrew the barrel from the receiver/frame in order that a lead ball and loose powder could be inserted into the chamber end of the barrel and then the barrel screwed back onto the receiver/frame.
- features may include: round screw on barrel with underlug for wrench; boxlock action; exposed centrally positioned ringneck cock; folding trigger; sliding-type safety device on the top of the rear tang which engages a notch in the rear of the hammer; and wooden grip.

Manufacturer

- "L. Harrison" is marked on the left side of the receiver/frame.
- Launcelot Harrison operated as a gunsmith in Carlisle, England between 1810 and 1837.

Action

- the barrel unscrews in front of the chamber, so it can be loaded with a ball that fits the barrel more tightly than is possible with a muzzle loader.
- the turnoff barrel may be rifled.

Other Markings

- British proofmarks are usually apparent on the receiver/frame and/or the barrel.
- engravings that may appear on both sides of receiver/frame depicts a "Trophy of Arms".

Notes

Make

- "HART'S PATENT" is marked on the sides of the firearm ("HART'S" on one side, "PATENT" on the other.
- William Hart was a Fredonia, New York-based inventor and gunsmith active in the 1820s and 1830s.

Model

- the model is not marked on the firearm; this is a description of the firearm type.
- this is a single-shot pistol made to use "pill" priming, an immediate precursor to the percussion cap. In this system, the sensitive priming compound was moulded into tiny spherical "pills", and those pills ignite when struck by a hammer, in the same manner as a percussion cap does. Though this system worked, the hazardous and fragile nature of the priming pills made them difficult to use, and this priming system was soon replaced by percussion caps.
- features include: generalized "saloon pistol" appearance; brass construction; round barrel with square-profile frame; a curved "tube"-style hammer with an extension to allow cocking; an integral pan-cover that withdraws automatically as the hammer is cocked; and walnut grip panels.

Manufacturer

- "HART'S PATENT" is marked on the sides of the firearm ("HART'S" on one side, "PATENT" on the other.
- William Hart was a Fredonia, New York-based inventor and gunsmith active in the 1820s and 1830s.

Action

- muzzle loading percussion single-shot.

Canadian Law Comments

- This firearm may have left the factory equipped with a sound suppressor/silencer. The sound suppressor is subject to the definition of "Prohibited Device" in Section 84, Part III (Firearms and Other Weapons) of the Criminal Code of Canada.

- If the complete sound suppressor/silencer (prohibited device) is removed, the firearm is correctly identified as a "Non-Restricted Firearm". NOTE: removal of the internal components of the sound suppressor/silencer (prohibited device) is not sufficient to mitigate a prohibited classification. All components of the sound suppressor/silencer, including the device body, end caps, mounting hardware, all internal parts (baffles, screens, spacers, wipes, etc.), must be removed.

Other Markings

- "QUATTRO" over "TRIGGER" followed by "SAS" over "SHOCK ABSORBER SYSTEM" was observed marked on the right side of the receiver/frame.

Make

- the make is marked on the firearm.

Model

- model designation is not marked on the firearm.
- this is an unusual multi-barrelled rifle (sidelocks for the outside barrels with a boxlock "blitz" for the centre barrel) that places three rifled bores next to each other in a horizontal line; most other three barrelled firearms are designed to "cluster" their bores in order to save space.
- features include: custom walnut pistol grip stock and forearm (style and materials left to customer's choice); round or octagonal barrels in length of customer's choice; folding or "leaf" style open sights, with claw type scope mounts as an option; double triggers (front set trigger available as an option); tang mounted safety/barrel selector; and the customer's choice of engraving styles and amounts.
- these firearms are available with all three bores chambered in an identical calibre (a rifle), or with the central bore chambered in a different calibre than the outer bores (a combination gun).

Manufacturer

- the manufacturer is marked on the firearm.
- Karl Hauptmann Jagdwaffen is a custom gunsmith/manufacturer based in Ferlach, Austria, who is known for making custom rifles and combination guns.

Shots	- detachable box magazine. - magazine is constructed of polymer material and may be transparent. - G36 model uses the magzine from Heckler & Koch Model 416 "family" of firearms.
Canadian Law Comments	- G36 model uses the magazine from Heckler & Koch Model 416 "family" of firearms. - there are large capacity cartridge magazines available for the Heckler & Koch Model 416 "family" of firearms. - these firearm Models are manufactured in both rifle and handgun configurations. The cartridge magazines are advertised by H&K as interchange between the rifle and the handgun; all H&K Model 416 Cartridge Magazines are considered "handgun" magazines. As handguns are limited to a ten shot magazine capacity in accordance with the CC PART III, S. 84, Regulations PART 4 Para 3. (1) (b) "The Former Cartridge Magazine Control Regulations", this limits the magazine capacity for both the rifle and the handgun configuration of the H&K Model 416 to ten (10) shots, despite the firearm being designed to use rim-fire ammunition. NOTE: - the Heckler & Koch cartridge magazine for this firearm at 10 shots capacity, H&K 416 Part Number 2245300 is an acceptable "handgun" magazine. - the Heckler & Koch cartridge magazine for this firearm at 20 shots capacity, H&K 416 Part Number 2245301 is a "prohibited device" unless reduced to ten (10) shots capacity. - the Heckler & Koch cartridge magazine for this firearm at 30 shots capacity, H&K 416 Part Number 2245302 is a "prohibited device" unless reduced to ten (10) shots capacity.

Canadian Law Comments

- there are large capacity cartridge magazines available for the Heckler & Koch Model 416 "family" of firearms.
- these firearm Models are manufactured in both rifle and handgun configurations. The cartridge magazines are advertised by H&K as interchange between the rifle and the handgun; all H&K Model 416 Cartridge Magazines are considered "handgun" magazines. As handguns are limited to a ten shot magazine capacity in accordance with the CC PART III, S. 84, Regulations PART 4 Para 3. (1) (b) "The Former Cartridge Magazine Control Regulations", this limits the magazine capacity for both the rifle and the handgun configuration of the H&K Model 416 to ten (10) shots, despite the firearm being designed to use rim-fire ammunition.

NOTE:
- the Heckler & Koch cartridge magazine for this firearm at 10 shots capacity, H&K 416 Part Number 2245300 is an acceptable "handgun" magazine.
- the Heckler & Koch cartridge magazine for this firearm at 20 shots capacity, H&K 416 Part Number 2245301 is a "prohibited device" unless reduced to ten (10) shots capacity.
- the Heckler & Koch cartridge magazine for this firearm at 30 shots capacity, H&K 416 Part Number 2245302 is a "prohibited device" unless reduced to ten (10) shots capacity.

Notes

Make

- "Heckler & Koch" and/or the "HK" logo is marked on the firearm.

Model

- "M27" is marked on the left side of the magazine well.
- this is a 5.56mm automatic rifle adopted by the US Army & Marine Corps in 2010 as a limited replacement for the M249 "Minimi" Squad Automatic Weapon/ light machine gun; these rifles were intended to give an infantry squad automatic fire capability in a lighter-weight, more maneuvrable system than the belt-fed M249.
- the M27 is based on the HK416 automatic rifle, with various changes to meet the requirements of the military tender request.
- features include: birdcage flash suppressor; folding open backup sights; ventilated four-rail forearm; flat-top upper with various optical or night sights; forward-assist upper; case deflector; and ejection port cover; ambidextrous three-position safety/selector (safe, semi, full, marked with bullet ideographs), and a collapsible buttstock with cheekpiece; matte black, tan, or flat dark earth finish.

Notes

Make	- "HECKLER & KOCH. INC. - STERLING. VA." is usually marked on the right side of the receiver/frame.
Model	- "MOD. M3 SUPER 90" is marked on the left side of the receiver/frame. - the shotgun has a duo operating system that can be operated as a pump action or as a semi automatic. - features include: blackened receiver/frame and barrel; the barrel may or may not have a top rib; may have a fixed or adjustable rear sight with a fixed front sight and/or a scope; synthetic pistol-grip stock and forearm or a synthetic pistol-grip with a folding stock skeletonized top folding stock.
Manufacturer	- "BENELLI ARMI SPA URBINO ITALY" is marked on the left side of the barrel. - "BENELLI ARMI SYSTEM" is marked on the breech block.
Action	- this firearm is considered "Other" for an action-type because it can operate as a semi-automatic (gas operated) or a pump action. - designed to function primarily as a semi-automatic firearm, with the pump-action mode used to reliably fire low-pressure ammunition such as tear gas rounds or less-lethal rounds. - action switch is located at the forward end of the forearm, and is formed as a knurled ring. Rotation of this ring either engages the action rods of the pump system and locks the semi-automatic recoil system, or disengages the action bars, locks the forearm and allows the inertia recoil system to operate the action automatically.
Serial Number	- serial number is marked on the right side of the receiver/frame above the trigger guard. - serial number observed consisted of a letter "M" prefix and six numbers.
Calibre	- "MAGNUM CAL 12 CL" is marked on the right side of the barrel.

Notes

Make

- "Heckler & Koch", "HK" or the "HK" logo is marked on the firearm.

Model

- "MG5" may or may not be marked on the firearm.
- this is a newly-designed general-purpose machine gun designed by Heckler & Koch in 2006 to replace the MG3 family, which was based on the WW2-era MG42. When adopted into German service, the HK121 is known as the "MG5". The MG5 uses a gas-operated mechanism with a rotating bolt cammed by the bolt carrier, unlike the roller-locked bolt of the machine guns it was designed to replace.
- this machine gun is the large-calibre (7.62mm NATO) counterpart to the 5.56mm NATO MG4.
- features include: quick-change barrel with black oxide finish in several barrel lengths; bird-cage flash suppressor; open adjustable sights with accessory rail for mounting a variety of optical and night sights; folding bipod on the under-barrel gas tube; receiver and furniture finished in black or desert colour schemes; and this machine gun may be seen in a variety of roles and configurations, including LMG, bipod or tripod mount, vehicle mount with spade grips; or coaxial mount.

Manufacturer

- "Heckler & Koch", "HK" or the "HK" logo is marked on the firearm.

Action

- gas operated.

Notes

Make

- the H&K logo is moulded into the polymer components and on the muzzle end of the barrel assembly.

Model

- P11 is moulded into the left side of the pistol grip.
- the P11 was apparently designed in the 1970's for underwater use by combat swimmers or special "frogman" units.
- this model uses two polymer main units, the upper unit consists of five sealed and waterproof pre-loaded barrels that use an electric ignition system. The lower unit houses the trigger mechanism and battery pack.
- due to the specialized nature of this firearm and its intended users very little information is available. Reported to be in use by Germany, France, Italy, Israel, Norway, Denmark, Netherlands, United Kingdom and the U.S.A.

Manufacturer

- Heckler & Koch is a manufacturer that produces a full line of sporting firearms as well as dedicated weapon systems for use by law enforcement and military units.
- due to the nature of this particular firearm it is reported that Heckler & Koch has never officially acknowledged production of this model.

Action

- five barrels are contained in one complete top unit.

Serial Number

- serial number is marked on the lower left side of the pistol grip.

Calibre

- this firearm uses a special dart that is fired by means of an electrical ignition system.
- reported to have an effective range of 10 meters under water and 30 meters above.

Notes

Make

- "HECKLER & KOCH GMBH" over "OBERNDORF/N" and "MADE IN GERMANY" is marked on the left side of the slide.
- "HK" logo is molded into the grip panels.

Model

- "HK P7" is molded into the bottom of the grip panels.
- "P7" reflects the official designation given to the "Police Self-Loading Pistol" or "PSP" pistol in 1978 when a series of tests were conducted to procure a new police pistol.
- manufactured from 1978 to 1986, and from 1990 to 1999.
- because the front strap of the pistol acts as an articulating cocking device and slide release this model may also be known as the "Squeeze Cocker" or "P7 Squeeze Cocker".
- recoil operated in conjunction with a patented gas system that retards the recoiling mass of the slide.
- features include: small trigger guard (relative to subsequent variant models) lacks the heat sheild found on later variant models; double action trigger; cocking lever located on the front of the grip strap which cocks the action when the pistol grip is squeezed; detachable box magazine; the extractor functions as a loaded-chamber indicator; the magazine release is located at bottom of the hand grip; fixed barrel with fluted chamber and polygonal rifling; slide retaining button located at the left rear of the receiver/frame; matte black finish.

Manufacturer

Shots

- detachable box magazine.

Remarks

- the "Police Self-Loading Pistol" or "PSP" pistol was designed in 1977 when a series of tests were conducted to procure a new police pistol. The original pistol submitted for testing did not have a model designation. When the head of the testing board asked what model was being tested it was decided to simply call the pistol the "Police Self-Loading Pistol" or "PSP". It is believed that only the first 239 pistols were made with "PSP" markings. After the design was deemed suitable for production it was given the designation "P7" (the seventh pistol design). This was consistent with the designations given to the other pistols under consideration, the Walther P38 was designated as the "P1", the Sig 210 as the "P2", the Astra 600/43 as the "P3", the Walther P4 and P5, and the Sig Sauer P225 which was the "P6".

Notes

Make

- make is marked on the firearm as "HK".

Model

- model identification found marked on left side of the receiver/frame magazine housing.
- markings include: SR9 (space) Serial number.
- serial number rationalization unknown.
- observed serial numbers include two digit prefix separated from a six digit number by a dash.
- this firearm is essentially an HK 91, modified by removal of the flash eliminator, without a bayonet mounting lug, having a radical "Dragunov" style skeleton butt which connects the "pistol grip" to the butt stock.
- the date of "PROOF" may be determined by a "last two digit" year code or an alpha character code under the proof mark.
- The "letter code" A = 0, B = 1, C = 2 etc., therefor IK = 89
- model introduced into North America circa 1990, discontinued and then re-introduced in 1997.

Manufacturer

- marked on the left side of the receiver/frame as "HK".

Firearms Reference Table, National Specialized Services, Royal Canadian Mounted Police. All rights reserved, RCMP, 1998-2026.

Action	- delayed blow-back, roller locked mechanism with a fluted chamber to assist primary extraction.
Serial Number	- serial number rationalization unknown. - observed specimen serial number consisted of a two digit prefix followed by a dash followed by six digits without a suffix. NOTE: zeros are used as place holders to produce a six digit serial number. ie) 46-000001
Barrel	- barrel lengths exist that have not been captured here due to a lack of accurate references.
Calibre	- calibre may be marked as 7.62 X 51 or as CAL .308.
Shots	- detachable box magazine.
Other Markings	- the date off "PROOF" may be determined by a "last two digit" year code or an alpha character code under the proof mark. - The "letter code" - A = 0, B = 1, C = 2 etc, therefor IK = 89 - Most of these Heckler & Koch firearms will have been proofed at the Ulm Proof House in Germany, the identification symbol for this Proof House is a stylized antler.

Notes

Make

- known example was marked "S.HENDERSON" on the lockplate, and "LONDON" was observed marked on the top of the barrel.
- it may be possible that S. Henderson was the American arms dealer/distributor who operated in the mid-1860's; his name is referenced in an American Civil War government document dated 1862 in reference to the purchase of firearms from England for the Northern war effort; it states that, "The London market had been cleaned out by speculators for the China trade. In this market Henderson, an American, had made contracts with nearly all the manufacturers ..."; no further information on "Henderson" has been determined.

Model

- model name is not marked on this firearm; model designation is derived from the characteristics of the firearm.
- this firearm would have been made circa 1830 to 1855.
- this pistol bears a striking resemblance to the percussion pistols made by the firm of Van Wart & Son of London, England.
- features include: half stocked, percussion ignition, muzzle loading pistol; octagonal barrel; back-action side lock; under barrel mounted ram rod; lightly engraved hammer and lock; silver or brass barrel escutcheon and forend cap; checkered wood grip.
- may also have a belt hook on the left side of the pistol and provision for percussion cap storage in the pistol grip.

Action

- muzzle loader.

Serial Number

- known example did not have a serial number.

Remarks

- it may be possible that S.Henderson was an American arms dealer/distributor who operated in the mid-1860's; his name is referenced in an American Civil War government document dated 1862 in reference to the purchase of firearms from England for the Northern war effort; it states that, "The London market had been cleaned out by speculators for the China trade. Notes

Make

- "HENRY'S PATENT. OCT. 16. 1860" over "MANUFACT'D BY THE NEW HAVEN ARMS. CO. NEW HAVEN. CT." was observed marked on the barrel.
- Benjamin Tyler Henry was the designer/inventor of the Henry metallic cartridge and the Henry Repeating Rifle.
- Benjamin Tyler Henry was born in 1821 and died in 1898.
- Benjamin Tyler Henry was assigned Patent Number 30,446 on October 16, 1860 for a magazine firearm.

Model

- "HENRY'S PATENT. OCT. 16. 1860" over "MANUFACT'D BY THE NEW HAVEN ARMS. CO. NEW HAVEN. CT." was observed marked on the barrel.
- this rifle was the forerunner of the subsequent lever action type rifles later produced by the "Winchester Arms Company".
- it was developed from the "Volcanic Arms Company" designs and was built around the new 44 HENRY RF cartridge designed by B.Tyler Henry.
- manufactured from 1860 to 1866.
- total quantity manufactured was approximately 14,000 units.
- features include: oil stained walnut stocks; blued finish on the iron receiver/frame version and plain finish on the brass receiver/frame.
- a distinctive identifying feature of the Henry rifle, is the lack of a forend, and the absence of a loading gate on either side of the receiver/frame.
- the production of Henry Rifle can be broken in four major variations:

IRON FRAME: receiver/frame made of iron rather than the standard brass, no lever latch, and rounded type buttplate at its heel, total production is believed to be less than 300.
EARLY BRASS FRAME: or first model; as above but receiver/frame made of brass, with or without lever latch, slotted receiver for rear sight, rounded and pointed heel buttplates (from serial number 1500 to 2500 both styles were used).
LATE BRASS FRAME: brass receiver/frame, lever latch standard, butt of the heel with a pointed profile consistent, serial number range above 2500.
MARTIAL MARKED: or U.S Government purchased and issued Henry Rifles; total quantity 1,731, acquired between 1862 and 1865, most were in serial range 3,000 to 4,200, believed to be all brass receiver/frame models, inspectors mark C.G.C. at breech of barrel and stock, the initials CGC are those of Charles G Chapman, a civilian employed by Springfield Armory Company during production of the U.S. Government order.

Manufacturer

- "MANUFACT'D BY THE NEW HAVEN ARMS. CO. NEW HAVEN. CT." was observed marked on the barrel.

Firearms Reference Table, National Specialized Services, Royal Canadian Mounted Police. All rights reserved, RCMP, 1998-2026.

Action	- manually operated, lever actuated, repeating rifle.
Serial Number	- serial number was observed marked on the barrel, behind the rear sight. - numbered from 1 to 14,000.
Shots	- tubular magazine located beneath the barrel, loaded from the muzzle end of the magazine.

Notes

Make

- "Henry Repeating Arms" is usually marked on the left side of the barrel.

Model

- the model is not marked on the firearm.
- DO NOT confuse this model with the earlier "Big Boy Deluxe" and "Big Boy Deluxe 2" models, which have different features (engraving patterns and not drilled and tapped for scope mounts).
- Henry has produced at least three "deluxe" engraved versions of the "Big Boy" and care must be taken to properly identify each model.
- the "Big Boy Deluxe" has scroll engraving on each side of the receiver/frame EXCEPT for a bare oval on each side that was left bare for personalization; the "Big Boy Deluxe 2" has NO bare panels in its engraving patterns, where the "Big Boy Deluxe 3" has a rectangular-shaped bare panel and a receiver that is drilled and tapped for scope mounts.
- this is a limited edition run of 3000 rifles, 1000 in each calibre of 44 Mag, 45 Colt, and 357 Mag.
- features include: blued octagon barrel with Marbles semi-buckhorn rear adjustable sight and brass beaded front sight; select American walnut buttstock and forend with solid brass crescent shaped butt plate and forend barrel band; ornately scrolled solid brass, right side ejecting receiver/frame with blued bolt, hammer, action lever and trigger; drilled and tapped for scope mounts; blued under barrel tubular magazine with loading port forward of the forend.
- overall length is 978mm and overall weight is 3.93kgs.

Manufacturer

- "Henry Repeating Arms" is usually marked on the left side of the barrel.
