Model	- found marked on the firearm as MODEL TU-90. - this firearm is a variation of the Tokarev, Type 54 pistol as made by the Chinese State Arsenals for commercial export sales in U.S.A. - This firearm is found with a safety catch mounted on the receiver/frame. - these firearms are original Chinese military firearms, with the original markings and serial numbers ground-off, re-serialized, remarked as Model TU-90 and refinished. - Other than the addition of a safety-catch these firearms are essentially Type 54 pistols as made by the Chinese State Arsenals for commercial export sales in U.S.A. - the general design of the firearm is unusual in that the firing mechanism, comprising the trigger to the hammer, may be removed "en-bloc" for maintenance.
Manufacturer	- may be marked on the left side of the frame with the manufacturer's factory number.
Action	- recoil operated.
Serial Number	- the serial number is marked on the left side of the receiver/frame above the magazine release. - observed specimens had five digits without prefix or suffix.
Calibre	- The calibre of each firearm is marked on the right side of the slide under the ejection opening: - CAL. 9 MM or as CAL 7.62 MM with "MADE IN CHINA" on a second line underneath the calibre.
Shots	- detachable box magazine.
Other Markings	- "MADE IN CHINA" found under the ejection opening on the right side of the slide.
Remarks	- Variations of the Type 54 pistol meant for commercial export sales in U.S.A. may be found with a safety catch mounted on the receiver/frame. For the most part these firearms will not be identified as Tokarev MAKE firearms, they will be Brand named to the importer (in this case Navy Arms) or the Chinese export agency and are usually renamed for MODEL as well. - NORINCO is a Chinese State marketing agency that sells products of the Chinese State Arsenals. - "Poly Technologies" is the trade name of "Poly Technologies International Incorporated", a marketing agency which is a subsidiary of the Chinese People's Liberation Army. - China Jin An a marketing agency that is the sales branch of the Ministry of Public Security.

Model	- samples examined have not been marked with a model designation. - this model appears to be a purpose built/modified, standard pattern "Type 56" (Chinese military designation) or "SKS" (common name associated with Russian military or Chinese commercial versions) carbine with a shortened barrel. Intended as an economical, compact, easily transported carbine for sporting purposes. - features include: light coloured beech or laminated stock and handguard; blued finish on metal (except bolt); hooded front sight with an adjustable rear sight; bayonet mounting point (although no bayonet is mounted, Navy Arms offered the same basic rifle with a shortened, folding cruciform bayonet as the SKS Para Carbine) and a cleaning rod mounted under the barrel.
Manufacturer	- "26" in a triangle and "CHINA" are marked on side of receiver/frame in front of the Chinese model identifier and the serial number.
Action	- gas operated.
Serial Number	- the serial number is usually marked on the left side of the receiver/frame. - the last few digits of the serial number are usually marked on major components.
Calibre	- complete calibre designation may not be marked on the firearm, samples have been noted simply marked "7.62mm".
Shots	- hinged magazine box that can be swung open for unloading.
Other Markings	- samples have been noted with Chinese, military type markings (Type 56) as well Norinco (a state owned marketing agency) type markings.
Remarks	- as this model was produced from existing stocks; markings and their location may vary from one example to the next.

Model	- samples examined have not been marked with a model designation. - this model appears to be a purpose built/modified, standard pattern "Type 56" (Chinese military designation) or "SKS" (common name associated with Russian military or Chinese commercial versions) carbine with a shortened barrel. Intended as an economical, compact, easily transported carbine for sporting purposes. - features include: light coloured beech or laminated stock and handguard; blued finish on metal (except bolt); hooded front sight with an adjustable rear sight; shortened, folding cruciform bayonet (Navy Arms offered the same basic rifle with a bayonet mounting point but no bayonet as the SKS Cowboys Companion) and a cleaning rod mounted under the barrel.
Manufacturer	- a factory identifier and "China" may be marked on the receiver/frame.
Action	- gas operated.
Serial Number	- the serial number is usually marked on the left side of the receiver/frame. - the last few digits of the serial number are usually marked on major components.
Shots	- hinged magazine box that can be swung open for unloading.
Other Markings	- samples have been noted with Chinese, military type markings (Type 56) as well Norinco (a state owned marketing agency) type markings.
Remarks	- as this model was produced from existing stocks markings and their location may vary from one example to the next.

Notes

Make

- "NAYLOR" over "SHEFFIELD" was observed marked on the top tang.

Model

- manufactured prior to 1869.
- model designation is not marked on the firearm.
- model designation is derived from the method by which this pistol is loaded; loading was accomplished by unscrewing the barrel.
- this is a single shot pistol with a removable barrel and an exposed hammer centrally located on the receiver/frame behind the chamber.
- this handgun is intended to be loaded from the breech end of the barrel and as such was originally suppied with a wrench to unscrew the barrel from the receiver/frame in order that a lead ball and loose powder could be inserted into the chamber end of the barrel and then the barrel screwed back onto the receiver/frame.
- features include: round barrel; flat sided receiver/frame; folding trigger; metal butt cap.
- British proofmarks are apparent on the receiver/frame and/or the barrel.

Manufacturer

- "NAYLOR" over "SHEFFIELD" was observed marked on the top tang.
- Thomas Naylor was a gunmaker located in Sheffield, York, England from circa 1847 to 1868.

Action

- the barrel unscrews in front of the chamber, so it can be loaded with a ball that fits the barrel more tightly than is possible with a muzzle loader.
- the turnoff barrel may be rifled.

Serial Number

- known example had no serial number.

Notes

Make

- "W.NEEDLER.HULL.PATENT, No.331" was observed marked on the top of the barrel rib of an example.

Model

- manufactured prior to 1887.
- model name is not marked on the firearm.
- model designation is derived from the physical characteristics of the firearm.
- this handgun appears to be a copy of the original Smith & Wesson, Tip Up 22 No 1 Issue 2 revolver.
- the No. 1 Issue 2 revolver has a square shaped receiver/frame above the trigger spur, a irregular shaped access plate on the left side of the receiver/frame behind the cylinder and a square flared grip.
- features include: fixed round blade front sight and a notch on the rear of the top strap for a rear sight; octagonal barrel; top rear hinged receiver/frame with a non fluted cylinder; exposed cylinder pin is located under the barrel; exposed spur hammer; sheathed spur trigger; single action trigger mechanism; wood or ebony grips.
- finish may be a silver finished receiver/frame with a blued barrel and cylinder or a complete nickel or silver plated finish.

Manufacturer

- "W.NEEDLER.HULL.PATENT, No.331" was observed marked on the top of the barrel rib of an example.
- "Needler, Hull" business was established by William Needler at 15 Scale Lane, Hull, England in 1843.
- William Needler moved to 22 Scale Lane in 1847, and then to the businesses final address at 27 Silver Street, Hull, England in 1850.
- William Needler was located at 27 Silver Street, Hull, England until 1886.
- William Needler also had a shop at 59 Queen Street in 1855.
- Needler" premises at 27 Silver Street was occupied by George Walter a gunsmith from 1888 to 1892.
- "Needler" business was run by Williams Stevenson Needler, the son of William Needler in 1893.
- "W S Needler" Silver Street business became the Hull branch for W.W. Greener in 1895.

Serial Number

- serial number was observed marked on the bottom of the buttstrap of the grip frame; it was also marked on the top rib of the barrel as, "No. 331".
- observed serial number consisted of three numbers without prefix or suffix
- the barrel marking also states the word "Patent" after the Needler name followed by "No. 331"; a search of registered British patents did not reveal any patent assigned to the name of William Needler, it is therefore assumed that the number on the barrel is the serial number as also marked on the buttstrap.

Notes

Make

- the make (or logo thereof) may be marked on the firearm.
- the Neostead name is used in reference to the two engineers who designed this shotgun, Tony Neophytou and Wilmore Stead.

Model

- the model designation may not be marked on the firearm.
- this is an unusual-appearing pump action shotgun of "bull-pup" design. Pumping the forend/barrel assembly forwards allows a spent case to be extracted and ejected as well as feeding a new cartridge.
- features include: black synthetic stock and forearm; matte parkerized finish on exposed metal surfaces; bottom ejection; "high-rise" sights/carrying handle; and a twin tubular magazine-feed system that sits above the barrel that will feed alternately from either tube or from a specific user-selectable tube (to allow the use of specific ammunition stored in that tube).
- overall length is 690mm (27.1"), average weight is 4.0kg (8.8lbs).

Manufacturer

- Truvelo Armoury is a division of Truvelo Manufacturers (Pty) Limited.
- Truvelo Armoury was established in 1994.
- Truvelo Manufacturers (Pty) Limited was formed in 1966 by Franz Josef Gebert.
- Truvelo Manufacturers (Pty) Limited is located in Midrand, South Africa.
- Truvelo Manufacturers (Pty) Limited produces traffic-control devices and firearms of all types.
- Truvelo's logo consists of an upward-pointing arrow superimposed on a square, often surrounded by the words "Truvelo Armoury" or "Truvelo Manufacturers".

Serial Number

- unknown rationalization.

Shots

- twin tubular magazines mounted above the barrel, each magazine tube holds six cartridges.

Canadian Law Comments

- this model is of a "bull-pup" design, as such it is not equipped with a Prohibited Device as described in PDR, Part 4, para. 2, ("bull-pup" stock).

Notes

Make

- "NEPPERHAN FIRE ARMS CO. YONKERS NY" , "NEPPERHAN F.A. CO." or 'NEPPERHAN F.A. CO. YONKERS NY" is marked on the barrel.

Model

- approximately 5000 of these revolvers were produced by the Nepperhan Fire Arms Company during the 1860's.
- slightly resembles a Colt 1849 Pocket; the primary identifying feature of these revolvers is a Remington 1875-style grip-frame with walnut grips, and a detachable sideplate on the receiver/frame.
- features two-piece walnut grips, octagonal barrel with flat-sided barrel lug, blued finish with color case hardened parts, and round, unfluted cylinder.
- marked on the barrel in one of three manners; early production revolvers (S/N #1-#500) are marked "NEPPERHAN / FIRE ARMS CO / YONKERS, N.Y.", mid-production revolvers (S/N #500-#4000) are marked "NEPPERHAN / FIRE ARMS CO", and the remainder of production (S/N #4000-#5000) are marked "NEPPERHAN F.A. CO. YONKERS, NY".

Manufacturer

- the Nepperhan Fire Arms Company was a manufacturer based in Yonkers, New York, circa 1860.

Notes

Make

- "NEF", "N.E.F.", "N.E.F. Co.", "N.E.F. Co., Inc.", "New England Firearms" or the "NEF/New England Firearms" logo is marked on the firearm.
- "N.E.F." is the acronym for "New England Firearms".
- New England Firearms was formed in 1987. The New England Firearms company history is also a chapter in the Harrington & Richardson/H&R 1871 history.
- in 1871 a partnership was formed between Gilbert Harrington and his uncle, Frank Wesson. The resulting company was known as Wesson & Harrington.
- Harrington & Richardson (also known as H&R) was founded in 1875 in Worcester, Massachusetts as the successor to Wesson & Harrington when Wesson sold his share of the company to William A. Richardson.
- Harrington & Richardson Arms Company Inc. continued until early in 1986 when mounting economic pressures forced the closure of the company.
- in 1987, a new firm, known as New England Firearms (NEF), occupied the old Harrington & Richardson facility in Gardner, Massachusetts. New England Firearms marketed a similar line of products with limited success.
- in 1991, a new company known as H&R 1871, Inc. was formed Although this company trades on the Harrington & Richardson name it has no ties with the original company.
- H&R 1871, Inc produces firearms under the Harrington & Richardson, New England Firearms and Wesson & Harrington brand names.
- on November 10, 2000, Marlin Firearms purchased H&R 1871, Inc including the brand names Harrington & Richardson, New England Firearms, and Wesson & Harrington. Under Marlin's ownership the company has become H&R 1871 LLC.

Model

- "Handi-Rifle" was manufactured from 1989 to 2008.
- "HANDI RIFLE" or "HANDI RIFLE MODEL SB2" or "SB2 HANDI RIFLE" may be marked on the barrel.
- this is a single-shot rifle based on New England Firearms "SB2" single-shot shotgun.
- features include: blued steel or stainless steel (introduced in 2003) barrel; blued, colour-case-hardened or stainless steel receiver/frame; hardwood or synthetic pistol-grip stock and forearm; open adjustable sights (also available drilled and tapped for scope mounts or with a Weaver mount attached); sling swivels; and a transfer-bar firing-pin safety.
- this firearm is also available as a "combo", with interchangeable barrels in 243 WIN and 50 Percussion.
- in 2006, the "SB2 Handi-Rifle" was introduced in the chambering 7.62X39 Russian and in 35 Whelen. Also available as a two or three barrel (rifle(s) and shotgun) combos.
- overall length for a 559mm (22") rifle barrel is 965mm (38"), average weight is 3.18kg (7lbs).
- overall length for a 660mm (26") shotgun barrel is 1067mm (42"), average weight is 3.18kg (7lbs).

Action

- hinged breech opens to load or eject using a small side lever mounted just to the right of the exposed hammer.

Serial Number

- serial number stamped on either side of the receiver/frame.
- observed serial number consisted of six numbers without a letter prefix or suffix.
- observed serial number consisted of a two letter prefix and six numbers.
- observed serial number consisted of a three letter prefix and six numbers.

Remarks

- since other (New England Firearms or Harrington & Richardson 1871) rifle and shotgun barrels can be interchanged (except the 10 gauge) with the action on the SB2 model, exact identification of this firearm may be difficult.

Notes

Make

- "NEF", "N.E.F.", "N.E.F. Co.", "N.E.F. Co., Inc.", "New England Firearms" or the "NEF/New England Firearms" logo is marked on the firearm.
- "N.E.F." is the acronym for "New England Firearms".
- New England Firearms was formed in 1987. The New England Firearms company history is also a chapter in the Harrington & Richardson/H&R 1871 history.
- in 1871 a partnership was formed between Gilbert Harrington and his uncle, Frank Wesson. The resulting company was known as Wesson & Harrington.
- Harrington & Richardson (also known as H&R) was founded in 1875 in Worcester, Massachusetts as the successor to Wesson & Harrington when Wesson sold his share of the company to William A. Richardson.
- Harrington & Richardson Arms Company Inc. continued until early in 1986 when mounting economic pressures forced the closure of the company.
- in 1987, a new firm, known as New England Firearms (NEF), occupied the old Harrington & Richardson facility in Gardner, Massachusetts. New England Firearms marketed a similar line of products with limited success.
- in 1991, a new company known as H&R 1871, Inc. was formed Although this company trades on the Harrington & Richardson name it has no ties with the original company.
- H&R 1871, Inc produces firearms under the Harrington & Richardson, New England Firearms and Wesson & Harrington brand names.
- on November 10, 2000, Marlin Firearms purchased H&R 1871, Inc including the brand names Harrington & Richardson, New England Firearms, and Wesson & Harrington. Under Marlin's ownership the company has become H&R 1871 LLC.

Model

- Handi-Rifle Youth was manufactured from 1998 to 2006.
- Handi-Rifle was introduced in 1989.
- model designation and number are stamped only on the barrel.
- features include: blued barrel and receiver/frame, shortened hardwood or synthetic stock with full pistol grip, recoil pad and swivel studs.
- also available in 2006 as a three (2 rifle and 1 shotgun) barrel combo.

Action

- hinged breech opens to load or eject using a small side lever mounted just to the right of the exposed hammer.

Serial Number

- serial number stamped on either side of receiver/frame.

Remarks

- Since other (New England Firearms or Harrington & Richardson 1871) rifle and shotgun barrels can be interchanged (except the 10 gauge) with the action on the SB2 model, exact identification of this firearm may be difficult.

- "NEF", "N.E.F.", "N.E.F. Co.", "N.E.F. Co., Inc.", "New England Firearms" or the "NEF/New England Firearms" logo is marked on the firearm.
- "N.E.F." is the acronym for "New England Firearms".
- New England Firearms was formed in 1987. The New England Firearms company history is also a chapter in the Harrington & Richardson/H&R 1871 history.
- in 1871 a partnership was formed between Gilbert Harrington and his uncle, Frank Wesson. The resulting company was known as Wesson & Harrington.
- Harrington & Richardson (also known as H&R) was founded in 1875 in Worcester, Massachusetts as the successor to Wesson & Harrington when Wesson sold his share of the company to William A. Richardson.
- Harrington & Richardson Arms Company Inc. continued until early in 1986 when mounting economic pressures forced the closure of the company.
- in 1987, a new firm, known as New England Firearms (NEF), occupied the old Harrington & Richardson facility in Gardner, Massachusetts. New England Firearms marketed a similar line of products with limited success.
- in 1991, a new company known as H&R 1871, Inc. was formed Although this company trades on the Harrington & Richardson name it has no ties with the original company.
- H&R 1871, Inc. produces firearms under the Harrington & Richardson, New England Firearms and Wesson & Harrington brand names.
- on November 10, 2000, Marlin Firearms purchased H&R 1871, Inc. including the brand names Harrington & Richardson, New England Firearms, and Wesson & Harrington. Under Marlin's ownership the company has become H&R 1871 LLC.

Model

- manufactured under the New England Firearms name from 1987 to 2008.
- model designation is marked on the barrel as well as gauge and choke.
- this is a single-shot break-open shotgun produced in several variations.
- features include: hardwood pistol-grip wood or camo finish stock and forearm; ventilated rubber recoil pad; transfer-bar safety; colour-case-hardened receiver/frame with blued barrels and sling swivels.
- a "combo" version of this firearm is available with two barrels, a 12 GA x 3" shotgun barrel, and a 50 Percussion rifle barrel.
- optional interchangeable chokes was introduced in 2006.

Action

- hinged barrel design.
- breech opens to load or eject using a small side lever mounted just to the right of the exposed hammer.

Serial Number

- serial number stamped on the left side of the receiver/frame.

Calibre

- calibre designation is marked on the barrel.

Remarks

- all SB1 Pardner model shotguns can be fitted with any shotgun barrel except the 10 gauge (SB2).

- "NEF", "N.E.F.", "N.E.F. Co.", "N.E.F. Co., Inc.", "New England Firearms" or the "NEF/New England Firearms" logo is marked on the firearm.
- "N.E.F." is the acronym for "New England Firearms".
- New England Firearms was formed in 1987. The New England Firearms company history is also a chapter in the Harrington & Richardson/H&R 1871 history.
- in 1871 a partnership was formed between Gilbert Harrington and his uncle, Frank Wesson. The resulting company was known as Wesson & Harrington.
- Harrington & Richardson (also known as H&R) was founded in 1875 in Worcester, Massachusetts as the successor to Wesson & Harrington when Wesson sold his share of the company to William A. Richardson.
- Harrington & Richardson Arms Company Inc. continued until early in 1986 when mounting economic pressures forced the closure of the company.
- in 1987, a new firm, known as New England Firearms (NEF), occupied the old Harrington & Richardson facility in Gardner, Massachusetts. New England Firearms marketed a similar line of products with limited success.
- in 1991, a new company known as H&R 1871, Inc. was formed Although this company trades on the Harrington & Richardson name it has no ties with the original company.
- H&R 1871, Inc produces firearms under the Harrington & Richardson, New England Firearms and Wesson & Harrington brand names.
- on November 10, 2000, Marlin Firearms purchased H&R 1871, Inc including the brand names Harrington & Richardson, New England Firearms, and Wesson & Harrington. Under Marlin's ownership the company has become H&R 1871 LLC.

Model

- manufactured under the New England Firearms name from 1992 to 2006.
- model name and number stamped on barrel.
- "SURVIVOR" is marked on the firearm.
- features include black composite thumbhole stock with storage in the butt, sling swivel studs, satin nickel plated finish on receiver and barrel.
- all SB2 Survivor models may be fitted with any other Survivor series shotgun or rifle barrel.
- this entry is intended for versions of this model equipped only with a rifle barrel or that use a shotgun barrel as an accessory barrel. An entry for this model that is equipped only with a shotgun barrel or uses a rifle barrel as an accessory barrel also exists.
- the 410 GA X 3"/45 COLT barrel for this model is made to fire both 45 Colt and 410 GA X 3" slug or shot. This barrel is twist rifled, with a screw in choke tube (with straight rifling to eliminate spin) to be used when using shot.

Action

- hinged breech opens to load or eject using a small side lever mounted just to the right of the exposed hammer.

Serial Number

- serial number stamped on either side of receiver/frame.

Notes

Make

- "NEW HAVEN" is marked on the firearm.
- "New Haven" was a trade name used by Mossberg.

Model

- this is a Mossberg model 800A sold under the New Haven trade name.
- the Mossberg model 800 series was introduced in 1966, it remained in production until 1979. The model 800 was the result of Montgomery Ward's interest in offering a moderately priced bolt action, centre-fire rifle to complete their line of Mossberg made sporting arms. The model 800 was designed for traditional "short" action length cartridges (308 WIN and shorter). Mossberg offered the model 800 in several different calibre, barrel profile, and stock choices, with or without a factory mounted 4X (four power) scope. Each variation was given its own model designation.
- in 1970/71 Mossberg introduced the model 810 series which was designed to handle longer, 30-06 SPRG size cartridges.
- features include: right hand action; blued finish on metalwork; Monte Carlo style, one-piece American walnut stock; barrel mounted folding rear sight and ramp front sight; safety is mounted on the top of the bolt; the bolt has six locking lugs (the model 810 series bolt had four).
- certain versions of the model 800 series were also sold by Montgomery Ward's under the Western Field brand name and by Western Auto under the Revelation name.

Manufacturer

- manufacturer's name is marked on the firearm.

Action

- turn-bolt operated.

Serial Number

- unknown serial number rationalization.
- firearms produced prior to 1968 may not be serialized.

Calibre

- the calibre designation is marked on the barrel.

Notes

Make

- marked on the breech top cover plate as: NORDENFELT
- the mechanism of this firearm was designed by a Swedish engineer, Heldge Palmcrantz, but was named after Thorsten Nordenfelt, a Swedish financier who funded and promoted firearms based on this design.

Model

- has five barrels set side by side, usually not marked as "Mark I", or as Volley Gun.
- usually marked on the rear of the common breech end piece in two lines, with the nomenclature of the firearm and the serial number, example:
NORDENFELT / No. 1234
- features include: 1168mm (46.0 inches) long, 70.okg (154 lb.) bare weight, with the long complex mechanism and a lighter cone mount.
- this firearm features five exposed barrels set side by side, supported by lateral cross members on which the barrels are mounted, bound by side plates on either side, a common horizontal flat rectangular receiver/frame of steel houses a breech for each of the five barrels, with an activating lever on the underside projecting out to the right, a common hinged breech cover of brass, mounting a vertical gravity fed cartridge distributor of brass with a capacity of 50 rounds, sur-mounted with a vertical cartridge hopper of brass with a capacity of 50 rounds.
- sights on both sides of the breech and barrel side plate assembly, with V-notch rear sights and barley corn front sights mounted on posts, right hand side to 1600 yards and left hand side to 2000 yards.
- the hopper feeds cartridges to the distributor, which in turn, feeds the five individual chambers.
- usually found pedestal mounted for Sea Service.

Do not confuse with the similar "5 barrel Volley Gun Mark II": 1073mm (42.25 inches) long, bare weight 60.4kg (133 lb.) and a shortened simplified mechanism, and heavier cone mount (compared to the Mark I).
Do not confuse with the "3 barrel .45 inch Nordenfelt Mark I", the "3 barrel .303 Converted Nordenfelt Mark I", the "2 barrel 1 inch Nordenfelt", or the "4 barrel 1 inch Nordenfelt" Volley Guns.

Manufacturer

- marked on the breech top cover plate: ENFIELD

Type

- Volley Gun: simultaneous ignition of five cartridges at the same instant, discharged in one volley.

Firearms Reference Table, National Specialized Services, Royal Canadian Mounted Police. All rights reserved, RCMP, 1998-2026.

Action	- five rifled barrels all chambered for the same cartridge, arranged side by side.
Serial Number	- usually marked on the rear of the common breech in two lines, example: NORDENFELT / No. 1234
Calibre	- marked on the breech top cover plate in two lines to identify the intended ammunition: CARTRIDGE / MACHINE GUN .45 - the .45 Machine Gun cartridge was intended by the British Service for use in the .45 Nordenfelt, .45 Gatling, .45 Gardner, and .45 Maxim. - do not confuse this cartridge with the .450 Martini-Henry round.
Remarks	- Note 1: the Five Barrel Volley Guns, Marks I and 2, built for the British Machine gun cartridge .45, were not known to be converted to use the .303 Magazine Rifle cartridge. - Note 2: the activation of this firearm design is entirely dependent on manual cranking of the lever back and forth and utilizes neither energy from the recoil, nor energy from tapping gas pressure from the barrel; the rate of volley fire is adjusted by varying the rate of the movement of the lever. - Note 3: Nordenfelt firearms using this design encompassed the single barreled Light Machine Gun and Volley Guns with two to twelve barrels, employing cartridges up to one inch diameter.

ENFIELD / 1889 / NORDENFELT / No. 234 MARK II / CWT QRS LBS / 1. 1. 6
- features include: 1073mm (42.25 inches) long, bare weight 60.4kg (133 lb.) and a shortened simplified mechanism and heavier cone mount (compared to the Mark I).
- this firearm features five exposed barrels set side by side, supported by lateral cross members through which the barrels are mounted, bound by side plates on either side, a common horizontal flat rectangular receiver/frame of steel houses a breech for each of the five barrels, with an activating lever on the underside projecting out to the right, a common hinged breech cover of brass, mounting a vertical gravity fed cartridge distributor of brass with a capacity of 50 rounds, sur-mounted with a vertical cartridge hopper of brass with a capacity of 50 rounds.
- sights on both sides of the breech and barrel side plate assembly, with V-notch rear sights and barley corn front sights mounted on posts, right hand side to 1600 yards and left hand side to 2000 yards.
- the hopper feeds cartridges to the distributor, which in turn, feeds the five individual chambers.
- usually found carriage-mounted for Land Service.

Do not confuse with the similar "5 barrel Volley Gun Mark I": 1168mm (46.0 inches) long, 70.0kg (154 lb.) bare weight, with the long complex mechanism and a lighter cone mount.
Do not confuse with the "3 barrel .45 inch Nordenfelt Mark I", the "3 barrel .303 Converted Nordenfelt Mark I", the "2 barrel 1 inch Nordenfelt", or the "4 barrel 1 inch Nordenfelt" Volley Guns.

Manufacturer

- marked on the breech top cover plate: ENFIELD

Firearms Reference Table, National Specialized Services, Royal Canadian Mounted Police. All rights reserved, RCMP, 1998-2026.

Type	- Volley Gun: simultaneous ignition of five cartridges at the same instant, discharged in one volley.
Action	- five rifled barrels all chambered for the same cartridge, arranged side by side.
Serial Number	- marked on the breech top cover plate, example: No. 321 MARK II
Calibre	- marked on the breech top cover plate in two lines to identify the intended ammunition: CARTRIDGE / MACHINE GUN .45 - the .45 Machine Gun cartridge was intended by the British Service for use in the .45 Nordenfelt, .45 Gatling, .45 Gardner, and .45 Maxim. - do not confuse this cartridge with the .450 Martini-Henry round.
Remarks	- Note 1: the Five Barrel Volley Guns, Marks I and 2, built for the British Machine gun cartridge .45, were not known to be converted to use the .303 Magazine Rifle cartridge. - Note 2: the activation of this firearm design is entirely dependent on manual cranking of the lever back and forth and utilizes neither energy from the recoil, nor energy from tapping gas pressure from the barrel; the rate of volley fire is adjusted by varying the rate of the movement of the lever. - Note 3: Nordenfelt firearms using this design encompassed the single barreled Light Machine Gun and Volley Guns with two to twelve barrels, employing cartridges up to one inch diameter.

Notes

Make

- named for Thomas Nordenfelt, a banker who financed the construction of the "Nordenfelt Machine Gun" design, then marketed the firearm which was invented by Heldge Palmcrantz.

Model

- the Nordenfelt may be called a machine gun but in fact it is a hand-operated volley gun. Firing and locking was accomplished by manipulation of a single hand lever in which sustained volley fire was accomplished or, alternately, each barrel could be manually fired one barrel at a time.
- the model designation does not appear on the firearm as "Nordenfelt Machine Gun". It may be marked only as Mk I or Mk II.
- the Nordenfelt was offered in 18 model variations. The difference between models being the calibre of the gun and the number of barrels.
- versions with 1 to 12 barrels exist, in a variety of calibres, from rifle cartridge calibres to approximately 1.5" calibre (37mm).
- each barrel had some sort of gravity feed mechanism a magazine or hopper over each barrel / frame opening.

Manufacturer

- first introduced circa 1877.
- British Army reports dated 1887 showed that the 1" Nordenfelt guns were largely manufactured in Sweden and assembled in Britain; however, the barrels were all made in Britain.

Make

- marked on the breech top cover plate as: NORDENFELT
- the mechanism of this firearm was designed by a Swedish engineer, Heldge Palmcrantz, but was named after Thorsten Nordenfelt, a Swedish financier who funded and promoted firearms based on this design.

Model

- has three barrels set side by side, not marked Volley Gun.
- marked on the breech top cover plate in six lines (manufacturer, date of manufacture, nomenclature of firearm, serial number with a modification of this model, and the last two line as the bare weight of the firearm), example:
MAXIM NORDENFELT / 1892 / NORDENFELT / No. 7654 MARK I / CWT - QRS - LBS / 0. 3. 9.
- adopted in 1887 into British Service as: "Gun, Nordenfelt, 0.45 Inch, 3 Barrel, Mark I", overall length of 1054mm (41.5 inches), 42.2kg (93 lb.) bare weight.
- this firearm features three exposed barrels set side by side, supported by lateral cross members through which the barrels are mounted, bound by side plates on either side, a common horizontal flat rectangular receiver/frame of steel (with an activating lever on the underside projecting out to the right) which houses a breech for each of the three barrels, a common hinged breech cover of brass, that mounts a demountable vertical gravity fed cartridge feed box, which in turn feeds the three feedways for the individual chambers.
- sights on both sides of the breech and barrel side plate assembly, with V-notch rear sight and barley corn front sight mounted on a post, right hand side only to 1800 yards.
- each gun was issued with 100 reusable cartridge feed boxes of pressed/moulded paper, each with a capacity of 27 rounds.
- usually found carriage mounted for Land Service.
Do not confuse with the "5 barrel Volley Gun Marks I and II, the "2 barrel 1 inch Nordenfelt", or the "4 barrel 1 inch Nordenfelt" Volley Guns.

Manufacturer

- marked on the breech top cover plate: MAXIM NORDENFELT G&A Co. LD.

Notes

Make

- "Made in China by Norinco" is marked on the left side of the slide.
- "NORINCO" is the trade-name of China North Industries Corporation.
- there are three Chinese State owned / controlled marketing agencies:
- "Norinco" is a Chinese State marketing agency that sells products of the Chinese State Arsenals.
- "Norinco" is not a manufacturer.
- "Poly Technologies" is the trade name of "Poly Technologies International Incorporated", a marketing agency which is a subsidiary of the Chinese People's Liberation Army.
- "China Jin An" is the sales branch of the Ministry of Public Security.

Model

- "Model 213A" is marked on the left side of the slide.
- "213A" is a semi-automatic single action handgun.
- "213A" is a Chinese-manufactured "improved" version of the Tokarev TT-33.
- the standard Tokarev receiver/frame for the "7.62MM TOKAREV" cartridge and eight round single column box magazine have been modified to accept the "9MM LUGER" cartridge and fourteen (14) round double column box magazine.

Manufacturer

- Chinese State Arsenal, Factory 66 is not marked on the firearm.
- the manufacturer's identifier may be marked on the left side of the receiver/frame, this is the number "66" enclosed in a triangle.

Action

- recoil operated.

Firearms Reference Table, National Specialized Services, Royal Canadian Mounted Police. All rights reserved, RCMP, 1998-2026.

Serial Number	- the serial number is marked on the left side of the receiver/frame.
Calibre	- the calibre designation is marked on the left side of the slide: "9x19mm".
Shots	- detachable box magazine.
Other Markings	- marked on the left side of the slide: MADE IN CHINA BY NORINCO - may be marked on the right side of the slide with importer's name: (eg: CJA SFLD)
Remarks	- this is a Soviet Military firearm design, essentially similar to a Tokarev Model TT33, except for caliber and width of the frame. - the general design is unusual in that the firing mechanism, comprising the trigger to the hammer, may be removed "en-bloc" for maintenance. - the finish of the firearm is utilitarian. - the receiver/frame and magazine for this unit in 9MM LUGER has been modified and widened from that used with the standard 8 round, 7.62 Tokarev cartridge to accept the 14 shot, double column magazine.

Canadian Law Comments

- this firearm is normally Non-Restricted unless affected by the following conditions:

1) by combining a barrel from a licensed firearms manufacture that is less than 406mm (16.0") in length and a receiver/frame fitted with a pistol grip only, this firearm may be deemed a "handgun" and therefore "RESTRICTED" under the definition of "restricted firearm" in Part III/Firearms and Other Weapons of Section 84 (1) (a) of the Criminal Code of Canada.
- "handgun" means a firearm that is designed, altered or intended to be aimed and fired by the action of one hand, whether or not it has been redesigned or subsequently altered to be aimed and fired by the action of both hands.

2) "a firearm that is designed or adapted to be fired when reduced to a length of less than 660 mm by folding, telescoping or otherwise" and therefore "Restricted" under the definition of "restricted firearm" in Part III/Firearms and Other Weapons of Section 84 (1) (c) of the Criminal Code of Canada.

3) by combining a barrel that has been altered to less than 457mm (18.0") in length by a non-licensed firearms manufacturer (cottage industry, individual or gunsmith) regardless of whether the shotgun has a pistol grip or conventional stock, this firearm is "PROHIBITED" and subject to the definition of a "prohibited firearm" in Part III/Firearms and Other Weapons of Section 84 of the Criminal Code of Canada.
- "prohibited firearm" means a firearm that is adapted from a rifle or shotgun, whether by sawing, cutting or any other alteration, and that, as so adapted,
(i) is less than 660 mm in length, or
(ii) is 660mm or greater in length and has a barrel less than 457 mm in length.

Notes

Make

- the "NORINCO" trademark is marked on the left side of the receiver/frame.
- "NORINCO"'s trademark consists of the word "NORINCO" laid over a star shaped design or stylised triangle with a decorative border or circle in the shape of a gear as a background.
- NORINCO" is not a manufacturer.
- "NORINCO" is a trade name found on small arms and light weapons (SALW) manufactured in China.- "NORINCO" is an acronym for a company which has been referred to as China North Industries Corporation and on occasion as North China Industries Corporation.
- "NORINCO" was established in 1979 by China's former Fifth Ministry of Machine-Building and in 1980 was made the principal "state owned" organisation responsible for the export of SALW's produced by Chinese manufacturers.
- the Fifth Ministry later became the Ministry of Ordnance Industry. It was renamed the China Ordnance Industry Corporation (COIC) in 1988.
- in 1999, a restructuring of the China Ordnance Industry Corporation resulted in the China North Industries Group Corporation (CNGC), also known as the NORINCO Group, and the China South Industries Group Corporation (CSGC) being formed. Both have their headquarters in Beijing.
- due to brand recognition, the organisation responsible for exports of firearms retained the name "NORINCO".
- "NORINCO" is owned by both China North Industries Group Corporation (NORINCO Group) and the China South Industries Group Corporation.
- "NORINCO" is one of four state-owned enterprises authorized to export SALW's.

Model

- introduced in 2005.
- the model designation "NP44" was observed on the left side of the slide.
- firearm design based on the Colt model 1911A1 pistol.
- features include: fixed blade front sight and adjustable rear sight; finger serrations located at the front and the back of the slide; skeletonized hammer; extented thumb safety, slide release and magazine release are located on the left side of the receiver/frame; extended beaver tail grip safety; single action trigger mechanism; skeletonized trigger; double stack magazine; blued finish with black grip panels.
- overall length for a 127mm (5") barrel is 220mm (8 5/8"), average weight is 1.4kg (3.08lbs).

Notes

Make

- "NORINCO" is usually marked on the side of the firearm.
- "NORINCO" is the trade-name of China North Industries Corporation.
- "NORINCO" is a Chinese State marketing agency that sells products of the Chinese State Arsenals and is not a manufacturer.

Model

- "NSR313" is marked on the firearm.
- the Norinco "NSR313" appears to be a renamed copy of the "Type 81 Light Machine Gun".
- Type 81 series rifles incorporate elements of the "SVD", "SKS", and "AK" series rifles.
- the rifle is cosmetically influenced by the "Type 56" license-produced AK-47, but with an SKS-like short-stroke gas-piston design and improvements to reduce the recoil and muzzle climb.
- there is a significant gap between the trigger guard and the magazine on Type 81 rifles, while on the Type 56 series the magazine is adjacent to the front of the trigger guard. The Type 81 rifle is a short-stroke, gas-operated design, while the Type 56 are long-stroke designs.
-features include: threaded round barrel with flash hider; hooded front post sight; three position adjustable gas regulator; oval metallic handguard with accessory rail; tangent rear adjustable sights with elevation drums on both sides; removable left side mounted accessory rail; stamped steel receiver/frame; metal removable top cover with rear button release; right side charging handle; left side two position selector; AK47-like magazine release and magazine; metal stamped trigger guard; polymer pistol grip and adjustable telescoping plastic stock.

Manufacturer

- manufacturer's name is not marked on the firearm.

Action

- gas operated.

Make	- "NORINCO" is not marked on this example. - "NORINCO" is the trade-name of China North Industries Corporation. - there are three Chinese State owned / controlled marketing agencies: - "Norinco" is a Chinese State marketing agency that sells products of the Chinese State Arsenals. - "Norinco" is not a manufacturer. - "Poly Technologies" is the trade name of "Poly Technologies International Incorporated", a marketing agency which is a subsidiary of the Chinese People's Liberation Army. - "China Jin An" is the sales branch of the Ministry of Public Security.
Model	- SKS in the model designation is the original Russian designation "Ssamosarjadnyi Karabin Simonov" (Self loading Carbine Siminov). - "D" in the model designation denotes a detachable box magazine. - standard SKS production used a fixed magazine that was loaded with a stripper clip. Samples have been noted marked "SKS-D" or simply "SKS".
Manufacturer	- will usually be marked "China" or "Made in China".
Action	- gas operated.
Serial Number	- numeric, marked on the receiver/frame.
Calibre	- calibre known as M43.
Shots	- detachable box magazine. - this model can use any magazine intended for use with the Kalashnikov "AK" design. As such higher capacity magazines will be encountered.
Remarks	- The Soviet SKS was the first of its design to fire the intermediate M1943 round. It is known for its ease of field stripping and maintainance and thus copied (with only slight alterations) by other Communist countries. Produced by the millions by various State Arsenals it is still manufactured today in China for the export sporting market. The models differ mostly in 'Other Markings' such as proof marks or lettering. May be found with many non-standard options (ie. after market stocks). Features a permanent folding blade or spike bayonet - There are three Chinese State owned / controlled marketing agencies: - NORINCO is a Chinese State marketing agency that sells products of the Chinese State Arsenals. - "Poly Technologies" is the trade name of "Poly Technologies International Incorporated", a marketing agency which is a subsidiary of the Chinese People's Liberation Army. - China Jin An is the sales branch of the Ministry of Public Security.
