Make

Model

- the model 800 series was introduced in 1966, it remained in production until 1979. The model 800 was the result of Montgomery Ward's interest in offering a moderately priced bolt action, centre-fire rifle to complete their line of Mossberg made sporting arms. The model 800 was designed for traditional "short" action length cartridges (308 WIN and shorter). Mossberg offered the model 800 in several different calibre, barrel profile, and stock choices, with or without a factory mounted 4X (four power) scope. Each variation was given its own model designation.
- in 1970/71 Mossberg introduced the model 810 series which was designed to handle longer, 30-06 SPRG size cartridges.
- the model designation is marked on the left side of the barrel as "MODEL 800A".

Notes

Make

- "T.W. Murray Cork" is usually marked on the firearm.
- T.W. Murray was a sporting-goods retailer and distributor on Patrick Street in Cork, Ireland, from 1880 until it closed in 1956; they sold guns under their name that were supplied by various manufacturers.

Model

- the model is not marked on the firearm; this model is applied due to the presence of an 1863 Tranter-patented ejection rammer, acting through the cylinder mouth to press against the mouth of a fired case. Tranter held several patents, and this patented ejector system had nothing to do with Tranter's more commonly-seen trigger mechanism.
- the identifying feature of this model is a percussion-style loading rammer mounted on the right side of the receiver/frame forward of the cylinder, that has an enlarged rammer head that fits closely into the chamber mouths to push empty cases out through the loading/ejection gate.
- features may include: blued or colour case-hardened finish; open fixed sights; right-side ejector/rammer handle that lays against the barrel when not in use; round or octagonal barrel; round cylinder; double-action trigger mechanism; spur hammer; enlarged prawl on the backstrap; checkered walnut grips.

Manufacturer

- manufacturer is not marked on the firearm.

- "Nat Ord" and "Nat'l. Ord. Inc." are the abbreviation for "National Ordnance Incorporated".

Firearms Reference Table, National Specialized Services, Royal Canadian Mounted Police. All rights reserved, RCMP, 1998-2026.

Model

- this is a commercial variant of the standard U.S. military M1 Carbine.
- produced from 1960 to mid 1970's.
- aproximately 50,000 produced.
- model designation may be marked on the top of the receiver/frame in front of the ejection opening usually in the format of "CAL.30 M1" or "CAL.30 M-1". It is usually necessary to determine the correct model through other features and markings.
- standard features usually include: parkerized finish on the receiver/frame and round barrel; fixed front sight; knob adjustable rear sights; push button or swivel lever safety on the right front of the trigger guard; push button magazine release in front of the safety; fixed wooden pistol grip or metal and wood MP-40 style bottom folding stock with separate upper handguard; left side mounted front sling swivel; may have an inletted oil holder/ sing attachment at the buttstock; front barrel band which may include a bayonet lug; may feature a cone shaped flash hider, a muzzle brake or a grenade launcher attached to the barrel.
- overall length with a 457mm (18") barrel is 903.73mm (35.58") and average weight is 2.49kgs (5.5lbs).

Manufacturer

- "NAT ORD" and/or "NAT'L ORD INC" and "S. EL MONTE CAL." may be marked on the top of the receiver/frame.
- "National Ordnance" was located in South El Monte, California, U.S.A. from 1965 to 1974.
- "National Ordnance" manufactured and assembled from parts military style firearms.

Action

- gas operated.

Serial Number

- the serial number may be marked on the left side of the breech ring or on the top of the receiver/frame just in front of the rear sight.

Calibre

- "CAL.30 M1" is marked on the front receiver/frame ring.

Shots

- detachable box magazine.

Remarks

- manufacturer names, codes or serial numbers are the surest method of identifying these firearms. Identifying marks are to be taken from the receiver/frame only. Wartime production facilities used many parts manufactured by other carbine producers as well as numerous sub-contractors. Carbines were often "arsenal refurbished", again making use of components for any number of different sources. Post war manufacturers also used many surplus military parts particularly in the early productions. As these parts ran out they began to use their own modern manufactured components. It is therefore possible to encounter a commercial carbine that will have military markings on some components as well as military manufactured firearms repaired or refurbished with modern commercial components. Further commercial identification can be done with features such as finish or stock style and material. The proliferation of modern accessory stocks, fitting, sights and other gadgets may also confuse the issue of specific model identification.

Model	- found marked on the firearm as MODEL TU-90. - this firearm is a variation of the Tokarev, Type 54 pistol as made by the Chinese State Arsenals for commercial export sales in U.S.A. - This firearm is found with a safety catch mounted on the receiver/frame. - these firearms are original Chinese military firearms, with the original markings and serial numbers ground-off, re-serialized, remarked as Model TU-90 and refinished. - Other than the addition of a safety-catch these firearms are essentially Type 54 pistols as made by the Chinese State Arsenals for commercial export sales in U.S.A. - the general design of the firearm is unusual in that the firing mechanism, comprising the trigger to the hammer, may be removed "en-bloc" for maintenance.
Manufacturer	- may be marked on the left side of the frame with the manufacturer's factory number.
Action	- recoil operated.
Serial Number	- the serial number is marked on the left side of the receiver/frame above the magazine release. - observed specimens had five digits without prefix or suffix.
Calibre	- The calibre of each firearm is marked on the right side of the slide under the ejection opening: - CAL. 9 MM or as CAL 7.62 MM with "MADE IN CHINA" on a second line underneath the calibre.
Shots	- detachable box magazine.
Other Markings	- "MADE IN CHINA" found under the ejection opening on the right side of the slide.
Remarks	- Variations of the Type 54 pistol meant for commercial export sales in U.S.A. may be found with a safety catch mounted on the receiver/frame. For the most part these firearms will not be identified as Tokarev MAKE firearms, they will be Brand named to the importer (in this case Navy Arms) or the Chinese export agency and are usually renamed for MODEL as well. - NORINCO is a Chinese State marketing agency that sells products of the Chinese State Arsenals. - "Poly Technologies" is the trade name of "Poly Technologies International Incorporated", a marketing agency which is a subsidiary of the Chinese People's Liberation Army. - China Jin An a marketing agency that is the sales branch of the Ministry of Public Security.
