Notes

Make

- "NEF", "N.E.F.", "N.E.F. Co.", "N.E.F. Co., Inc.", "New England Firearms" or the "NEF/New England Firearms" logo is marked on the firearm.
- "N.E.F." is the acronym for "New England Firearms".
- New England Firearms was formed in 1987. The New England Firearms company history is also a chapter in the Harrington & Richardson/H&R 1871 history.
- in 1871 a partnership was formed between Gilbert Harrington and his uncle, Frank Wesson. The resulting company was known as Wesson & Harrington.
- Harrington & Richardson (also known as H&R) was founded in 1875 in Worcester, Massachusetts as the successor to Wesson & Harrington when Wesson sold his share of the company to William A. Richardson.
- Harrington & Richardson Arms Company Inc. continued until early in 1986 when mounting economic pressures forced the closure of the company.
- in 1987, a new firm, known as New England Firearms (NEF), occupied the old Harrington & Richardson facility in Gardner, Massachusetts. New England Firearms marketed a similar line of products with limited success.
- in 1991, a new company known as H&R 1871, Inc. was formed Although this company trades on the Harrington & Richardson name it has no ties with the original company.
- H&R 1871, Inc produces firearms under the Harrington & Richardson, New England Firearms and Wesson & Harrington brand names.
- on November 10, 2000, Marlin Firearms purchased H&R 1871, Inc including the brand names Harrington & Richardson, New England Firearms, and Wesson & Harrington. Under Marlin's ownership the company has become H&R 1871 LLC.

Model

- "Handi-Rifle" was manufactured from 1989 to 2008.
- "HANDI RIFLE" or "HANDI RIFLE MODEL SB2" or "SB2 HANDI RIFLE" may be marked on the barrel.
- this is a single-shot rifle based on New England Firearms "SB2" single-shot shotgun.
- features include: blued steel or stainless steel (introduced in 2003) barrel; blued, colour-case-hardened or stainless steel receiver/frame; hardwood or synthetic pistol-grip stock and forearm; open adjustable sights (also available drilled and tapped for scope mounts or with a Weaver mount attached); sling swivels; and a transfer-bar firing-pin safety.
- this firearm is also available as a "combo", with interchangeable barrels in 243 WIN and 50 Percussion.
- in 2006, the "SB2 Handi-Rifle" was introduced in the chambering 7.62X39 Russian and in 35 Whelen. Also available as a two or three barrel (rifle(s) and shotgun) combos.
- overall length for a 559mm (22") rifle barrel is 965mm (38"), average weight is 3.18kg (7lbs).
- overall length for a 660mm (26") shotgun barrel is 1067mm (42"), average weight is 3.18kg (7lbs).

Action

- hinged breech opens to load or eject using a small side lever mounted just to the right of the exposed hammer.

Serial Number

- serial number stamped on either side of the receiver/frame.
- observed serial number consisted of six numbers without a letter prefix or suffix.
- observed serial number consisted of a two letter prefix and six numbers.
- observed serial number consisted of a three letter prefix and six numbers.

Remarks

- since other (New England Firearms or Harrington & Richardson 1871) rifle and shotgun barrels can be interchanged (except the 10 gauge) with the action on the SB2 model, exact identification of this firearm may be difficult.

Notes

Make

- "NEW HAVEN" is marked on the firearm.
- "New Haven" was a trade name used by Mossberg.

Model

- this is a Mossberg model 800A sold under the New Haven trade name.
- the Mossberg model 800 series was introduced in 1966, it remained in production until 1979. The model 800 was the result of Montgomery Ward's interest in offering a moderately priced bolt action, centre-fire rifle to complete their line of Mossberg made sporting arms. The model 800 was designed for traditional "short" action length cartridges (308 WIN and shorter). Mossberg offered the model 800 in several different calibre, barrel profile, and stock choices, with or without a factory mounted 4X (four power) scope. Each variation was given its own model designation.
- in 1970/71 Mossberg introduced the model 810 series which was designed to handle longer, 30-06 SPRG size cartridges.
- features include: right hand action; blued finish on metalwork; Monte Carlo style, one-piece American walnut stock; barrel mounted folding rear sight and ramp front sight; safety is mounted on the top of the bolt; the bolt has six locking lugs (the model 810 series bolt had four).
- certain versions of the model 800 series were also sold by Montgomery Ward's under the Western Field brand name and by Western Auto under the Revelation name.

Manufacturer

- manufacturer's name is marked on the firearm.

Action

- turn-bolt operated.

Serial Number

- unknown serial number rationalization.
- firearms produced prior to 1968 may not be serialized.

Calibre

- the calibre designation is marked on the barrel.

Notes

Make

- "NEW HAVEN" is marked on the firearm.
- "New Haven" was a trade name used by Mossberg.

Model

- this is a Mossberg model 800C sold under the New Haven trade name.
- the Mossberg model 800 series was introduced in 1966, it remained in production until 1979. The model 800 was the result of Montgomery Ward's interest in offering a moderately priced bolt action, centre-fire rifle to complete their line of Mossberg made sporting arms. The model 800 was designed for traditional "short" action length cartridges (308 WIN and shorter). Mossberg offered the model 800 in several different calibre, barrel profile, and stock choices, with or without a factory mounted 4X (four power) scope. Each variation was given its own model designation.
- in 1970/71 Mossberg introduced the model 810 series which was designed to handle longer, 30-06 SPRG size cartridges.
- features include: right hand action; blued finish on metalwork; Monte Carlo style, one-piece American walnut stock; barrel mounted folding rear sight and ramp front sight; safety is mounted on the top of the bolt; the bolt has six locking lugs (the model 810 series bolt had four).
- certain versions of the model 800 series were also sold by Montgomery Ward's under the Western Field brand name and by Western Auto under the Revelation name.

Manufacturer

- manufacturer's name is marked on the firearm.

Action

- turn-bolt operated.

Serial Number

- unknown serial number rationalization.
- firearms produced prior to 1968 may not be serialized.

Calibre

- the calibre designation is marked on the barrel.

Firearms Reference Table, National Specialized Services, Royal Canadian Mounted Police. All rights reserved, RCMP, 1998-2026.

Shots - internal magazine with a hinged floorplate.

Notes

Make

- the "ULA" logo is marked on the receiver/frame and/or barrel.
- the letters "ULA" are the initials of the original company, "Ultra Light Arms"; this trademark has been retained by the New Ultra Light Arms LLC.

Model

- model name may be marked on the firearm.
- introduced circa 2000.
- this is basically a custom made hunting rifle combining a very light-weight design with match grade accuracy.
- the Model 20S series of rifles is based on a short action receiver/frame.
- features include; turn bolt operated; internal box magazine; Douglas chrome-moly or stainless steel barrel; New Ultra Light Arms' receiver/frame; left or right hand short action; Timney or Jewell trigger; two position, three function safety; Kevlar/graphite synthetic full pistol grip stock with recoil pad and sling swivel studs; no iron sights; receiver/frame is drilled and tapped for scope mounts.
- rifle weight without scope; 4.75 lbs.

Manufacturer

- New Ultra Light Arms LLC is an American firearms manufacturer located at Granville, West Virginia, USA; the firm was incorporated in January of 2000.
- New Ultra Light Arms LLC is the successor company to the former Ultra Light Arms (ULA) which ceased business circa 1999.
- New Ultra Light Arms LLC manufactures custom and semi-custom, light weight, bolt action rifles.
- Ultra Light Arms (ULA) was established in the 1980s by Melvin Forbes of Morgantown, West Virginia, U.S.A.
- Ultra Light Arms was located in Granville, West Virginia, U.S.A.
- Ultra Light Arms and Saco Defense were purchased by Colt's Mfg. Co. Inc. in 1998/1999.
- Colt experienced financial difficulty in 1999/2000 and sold Ultra Light Arms back to Melvin Forbes and Saco Defense to General Dynamics.
- in 2000, Ultra Light Arms became "New Ultra Light Arms LLC"; the new company did however retain the previous "ULA" trademark/logo.

Action

- turn bolt design.

Serial Number

- serial number is marked on the receiver/frame.

Notes

Make

- marked on the breech top cover plate as: NORDENFELT
- the mechanism of this firearm was designed by a Swedish engineer, Heldge Palmcrantz, but was named after Thorsten Nordenfelt, a Swedish financier who funded and promoted firearms based on this design.

Model

- has five barrels set side by side, usually not marked as "Mark I", or as Volley Gun.
- usually marked on the rear of the common breech end piece in two lines, with the nomenclature of the firearm and the serial number, example:
NORDENFELT / No. 1234
- features include: 1168mm (46.0 inches) long, 70.okg (154 lb.) bare weight, with the long complex mechanism and a lighter cone mount.
- this firearm features five exposed barrels set side by side, supported by lateral cross members on which the barrels are mounted, bound by side plates on either side, a common horizontal flat rectangular receiver/frame of steel houses a breech for each of the five barrels, with an activating lever on the underside projecting out to the right, a common hinged breech cover of brass, mounting a vertical gravity fed cartridge distributor of brass with a capacity of 50 rounds, sur-mounted with a vertical cartridge hopper of brass with a capacity of 50 rounds.
- sights on both sides of the breech and barrel side plate assembly, with V-notch rear sights and barley corn front sights mounted on posts, right hand side to 1600 yards and left hand side to 2000 yards.
- the hopper feeds cartridges to the distributor, which in turn, feeds the five individual chambers.
- usually found pedestal mounted for Sea Service.

Do not confuse with the similar "5 barrel Volley Gun Mark II": 1073mm (42.25 inches) long, bare weight 60.4kg (133 lb.) and a shortened simplified mechanism, and heavier cone mount (compared to the Mark I).
Do not confuse with the "3 barrel .45 inch Nordenfelt Mark I", the "3 barrel .303 Converted Nordenfelt Mark I", the "2 barrel 1 inch Nordenfelt", or the "4 barrel 1 inch Nordenfelt" Volley Guns.

Manufacturer

- marked on the breech top cover plate: ENFIELD

Type

- Volley Gun: simultaneous ignition of five cartridges at the same instant, discharged in one volley.

Firearms Reference Table, National Specialized Services, Royal Canadian Mounted Police. All rights reserved, RCMP, 1998-2026.

Action	- five rifled barrels all chambered for the same cartridge, arranged side by side.
Serial Number	- usually marked on the rear of the common breech in two lines, example: NORDENFELT / No. 1234
Calibre	- marked on the breech top cover plate in two lines to identify the intended ammunition: CARTRIDGE / MACHINE GUN .45 - the .45 Machine Gun cartridge was intended by the British Service for use in the .45 Nordenfelt, .45 Gatling, .45 Gardner, and .45 Maxim. - do not confuse this cartridge with the .450 Martini-Henry round.
Remarks	- Note 1: the Five Barrel Volley Guns, Marks I and 2, built for the British Machine gun cartridge .45, were not known to be converted to use the .303 Magazine Rifle cartridge. - Note 2: the activation of this firearm design is entirely dependent on manual cranking of the lever back and forth and utilizes neither energy from the recoil, nor energy from tapping gas pressure from the barrel; the rate of volley fire is adjusted by varying the rate of the movement of the lever. - Note 3: Nordenfelt firearms using this design encompassed the single barreled Light Machine Gun and Volley Guns with two to twelve barrels, employing cartridges up to one inch diameter.

Notes

Make

- named for Thomas Nordenfelt, a banker who financed the construction of the "Nordenfelt Machine Gun" design, then marketed the firearm which was invented by Heldge Palmcrantz.

Model

- the Nordenfelt may be called a machine gun but in fact it is a hand-operated volley gun. Firing and locking was accomplished by manipulation of a single hand lever in which sustained volley fire was accomplished or, alternately, each barrel could be manually fired one barrel at a time.
- the model designation does not appear on the firearm as "Nordenfelt Machine Gun". It may be marked only as Mk I or Mk II.
- the Nordenfelt was offered in 18 model variations. The difference between models being the calibre of the gun and the number of barrels.
- versions with 1 to 12 barrels exist, in a variety of calibres, from rifle cartridge calibres to approximately 1.5" calibre (37mm).
- each barrel had some sort of gravity feed mechanism a magazine or hopper over each barrel / frame opening.

Manufacturer

- first introduced circa 1877.
- British Army reports dated 1887 showed that the 1" Nordenfelt guns were largely manufactured in Sweden and assembled in Britain; however, the barrels were all made in Britain.

Canadian Law Comments

- this firearm is normally Non-Restricted unless affected by the following conditions:

1) by combining a barrel from a licensed firearms manufacture that is less than 406mm (16.0") in length and a receiver/frame fitted with a pistol grip only, this firearm may be deemed a "handgun" and therefore "RESTRICTED" under the definition of "restricted firearm" in Part III/Firearms and Other Weapons of Section 84 (1) (a) of the Criminal Code of Canada.
- "handgun" means a firearm that is designed, altered or intended to be aimed and fired by the action of one hand, whether or not it has been redesigned or subsequently altered to be aimed and fired by the action of both hands.

2) "a firearm that is designed or adapted to be fired when reduced to a length of less than 660 mm by folding, telescoping or otherwise" and therefore "Restricted" under the definition of "restricted firearm" in Part III/Firearms and Other Weapons of Section 84 (1) (c) of the Criminal Code of Canada.

3) by combining a barrel that has been altered to less than 457mm (18.0") in length by a non-licensed firearms manufacturer (cottage industry, individual or gunsmith) regardless of whether the shotgun has a pistol grip or conventional stock, this firearm is "PROHIBITED" and subject to the definition of a "prohibited firearm" in Part III/Firearms and Other Weapons of Section 84 of the Criminal Code of Canada.
- "prohibited firearm" means a firearm that is adapted from a rifle or shotgun, whether by sawing, cutting or any other alteration, and that, as so adapted,
(i) is less than 660 mm in length, or
(ii) is 660mm or greater in length and has a barrel less than 457 mm in length.

Notes

Make

- "NORINCO" is marked on the left side of the receiver/frame both as a logo and by a stamping of "MADE IN CHINA BY NORINCO".
- "NORINCO" is the trade-name of China North Industries Corporation.
- there are three Chinese State owned / controlled marketing agencies:
- "Norinco" is a Chinese State marketing agency that sells products of the Chinese State Arsenals.
- "Norinco" is not a manufacturer.
- "Poly Technologies" is the trade name of "Poly Technologies International Incorporated", a marketing agency which is a subsidiary of the Chinese People's Liberation Army.
- "China Jin An" is the sales branch of the Ministry of Public Security.

Model

- "84S-7" is marked on the left side of the receiver/frame.
- "84S-7" is of the design commonly known as the AK-47 rifle.
- features include: a fixed wood or plastic buttstock, forend, handguard and pistol grip; blued metal finish; removable flash hider assembly; right side mounted safety lever; under barrel mounted cleaning rod.
- "84S-7" is one of a series of semi-automatic rifles marketed by Norinco that are differentiated by physical features. These variant models are as follows:
- 84S designates a fixed wood or plastic buttstock.
- 84S-1 designates an under-folding metal skeletonized buttstock.
- 84S-2 designates a side folding stock of metal and plastic construction.
- 84S-7 designates a fixed wood buttstock and a firing pin return spring being present.

Manufacturer

- Chinese State Arsenal, Factory 66 is not marked on the firearm.
- the manufacturer's identifier may be marked on the left side of the receiver/frame, this is the number "66" enclosed in a triangle.

Action

- gas operated.

Serial Number

- the serial number is marked on the left side of the receiver/frame.
- observed serial number sequences have consisted of six digits with an "AL" prefix.
- partial serial numbers are found on major assemblies.

Barrel

- the length of the barrel is measured not including the flash hider.

Calibre

- the calibre designation is marked on the left side of the receiver/frame as "5.56X45mm".

Shots

- detachable box magazine.

Remarks

- a small quantity of Model 84S-7 production had a firing-pin return spring added to the breech mechanism to prevent the firing-pin from surging forward when the breech closes with attendent possible accidental discharge problems when commercial ammunition having a soft primer cup is used. This modification has been attributed to a Canadian dealer - Alan Lever (Lever Arms) who insisted that his orders be modified at the factory in the above fashion.
- There are three Chinese State owned / controlled marketing agencies:
- NORINCO is a Chinese State marketing agency that sells products of the Chinese State Arsenals.
- "Poly Technologies" is the trade name of "Poly Technologies International Incorporated", a marketing agency which is a subsidiary of the Chinese People's Liberation Army.

Notes

Make

- the "NORINCO" trademark is marked on the left side of the receiver/frame.
- "NORINCO"'s trademark consists of the word "NORINCO" laid over a star shaped design or stylised triangle with a decorative border or circle in the shape of a gear as a background.
- NORINCO" is not a manufacturer.
- "NORINCO" is a trade name found on small arms and light weapons (SALW) manufactured in China.- "NORINCO" is an acronym for a company which has been referred to as China North Industries Corporation and on occasion as North China Industries Corporation.
- "NORINCO" was established in 1979 by China's former Fifth Ministry of Machine-Building and in 1980 was made the principal "state owned" organisation responsible for the export of SALW's produced by Chinese manufacturers.
- the Fifth Ministry later became the Ministry of Ordnance Industry. It was renamed the China Ordnance Industry Corporation (COIC) in 1988.
- in 1999, a restructuring of the China Ordnance Industry Corporation resulted in the China North Industries Group Corporation (CNGC), also known as the NORINCO Group, and the China South Industries Group Corporation (CSGC) being formed. Both have their headquarters in Beijing.
- due to brand recognition, the organisation responsible for exports of firearms retained the name "NORINCO".
- "NORINCO" is owned by both China North Industries Group Corporation (NORINCO Group) and the China South Industries Group Corporation.
- "NORINCO" is one of four state-owned enterprises authorized to export SALW's.

Model

- introduced in 2005.
- the model designation "NP44" was observed on the left side of the slide.
- firearm design based on the Colt model 1911A1 pistol.

Notes

Make	- "MADE IN CHINA BY NORINCO" is marked on the side of the receiver/frame.
Model	- samples examined have not been marked with a model designation. - this model appears to be a purpose built/modified, standard pattern "Type 56" (Chinese military designation) or "SKS" (common name associated with Russian military or Chinese commercial versions) carbine with a shortened barrel. Intended as an economical, compact, easily transported carbine for sporting purposes. - features include: light coloured beech or laminated stock and handguard; blued finish on metal (except bolt); hooded front sight with an adjustable rear sight; with or without a bayonet mount; cleaning rod mounted under the barrel.
Manufacturer	- "6602" in a triangle is marked on the side of receiver/frame.
Action	- gas operated.
Serial Number	- the serial number is usually marked on the left side of the receiver/frame. - the last few digits of the serial number are usually marked on major components.
Calibre	- complete calibre designation may not be marked on the firearm, samples have been noted simply marked "7.62mm".
Shots	- hinged magazine box that can be swung open for unloading.

- detachable box magazine.
- this model can use any magazine intended for use with the Kalashnikov "AK" design. As such higher capacity magazines will be encountered.

Remarks

- The Soviet SKS was the first of its design to fire the intermediate M1943 round. It is known for its ease of field stripping and maintainance and thus copied (with only slight alterations) by other Communist countries. Produced by the millions by various State Arsenals it is still manufactured today in China for the export sporting market. The models differ mostly in 'Other Markings' such as proof marks or lettering. May be found with many non-standard options (ie. after market stocks). Features a permanent folding blade or spike bayonet

- "China Jin An" is the sales branch of the Ministry of Public Security.

Model

- "77" is marked on the left side of the slide.
- this model uses a design based on the 1913 -1915 era Bergman and Lignose "Einehand" series of one hand cocking pistols.
- features include: round fixed barrel with fluted chamber; flat sided slide with fixed open sights and cocking serrations; receiver/frame has a push button magazine release and manual safety on the left side; removable trigger guard; lanyard loop; plastic panel grips; blued finish.
- to load and cock the Type 77 using one hand, the trigger finger is hooked around the front of the trigger guard and pulled to the rear. This moves the slide back against the return spring allowing a cartridge in the magazine to rise into the feed way, when the trigger guard is release the return spring forces a round into the chamber.

Manufacturer

- "136" in oval was observed marked on the left side of the slide.

Action

- blowback design.

Serial Number

- serial number is located on the left side of the slide.
- the last four numbers of the serial number are marked on the left side of the receiver/frame, under the slide on the chamber area of the barrel.

Canadian Law Comments

- this firearm is normally Non-Restricted unless affected by the following conditions:

1) by combining a barrel from a licensed firearms manufacture that is less than 406mm (16.0") in length and a receiver/frame fitted with a pistol grip only, this firearm may be deemed a "handgun" and therefore "RESTRICTED" under the definition of "restricted firearm" in Part III/Firearms and Other Weapons of Section 84 (1) (a) of the Criminal Code of Canada.
- "handgun" means a firearm that is designed, altered or intended to be aimed and fired by the action of one hand, whether or not it has been redesigned or subsequently altered to be aimed and fired by the action of both hands.

2) "a firearm that is designed or adapted to be fired when reduced to a length of less than 660 mm by folding, telescoping or otherwise" and therefore "Restricted" under the definition of "restricted firearm" in Part III/Firearms and Other Weapons of Section 84 (1) (c) of the Criminal Code of Canada.

3) by combining a barrel that has been altered to less than 457mm (18.0") in length by a non-licensed firearms manufacturer (cottage industry, individual or gunsmith) regardless of whether the shotgun has a pistol grip or conventional stock, this firearm is "PROHIBITED" and subject to the definition of a "prohibited firearm" in Part III/Firearms and Other Weapons of Section 84 of the Criminal Code of Canada.
- "prohibited firearm" means a firearm that is adapted from a rifle or shotgun, whether by sawing, cutting or any other alteration, and that, as so adapted,
(i) is less than 660 mm in length, or
(ii) is 660mm or greater in length and has a barrel less than 457 mm in length.

Canadian Law Comments

- Browning Machine Gun receivers:

- The five sided box consisting of top and bottom plates, left and right side plates and the front trunnion block is the receiver/frame for all purposes of the Criminal Code, Section 2 definition of "firearm".
- For regulatory purposes, when the five sided box receiver/frame is further disassembled, the receiver/frame component plate where the manufacturer information and serial number are found, is used to establish the description for the purpose of firearms registration.
- The classification of this firearm as a semi-automatic firearm is based on the presumption that none of the original five (5) receiver components were reused. This is what was understood to be the meaning of the claim by the manufacturer that the firearm is a "newly manufactured semi-automatic firearm".
- The Criminal Code PART III, Section 84 para (c) definition - prohibited firearm means, "an automatic firearm, whether or not it has been altered to discharge only one projectile with one pressure of the trigger.

Remarks

- this firearm is a re-creation of the United States Service, Browning Machine Gun, Calibre 50, M2 HB, capable of semi-automatic fire only.
- the receiver has been designed and manufactured to prevent the use of full-auto parts.
- the manufacturer uses surplus US parts to build the receivers / frames into complete firearms.
